TWO HEROES GREETED BY HOME FOLKS

Jackson and O'Brine Taken Through Streets Atop Automobile in St. Louis

SEVEN MILE PARADE

Roses, Wreaths, Bundles Of Flowers Are Thrown On Aviators By Crowds

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 1.—(UP)—A red headed boy and a dark haired boy rode in a flower decked automobile down the streets of St. Louis today while the city roared its acclaim for the longest airplane flight in history.

On the folded top of a touring car they sat—Dale "Red" Jackson and Forrest "Obie" O'Brine, who piloted the monoplane St. Louis Robin through 17 1/2 days of continuous flight.

Jackson, his red hair combed faultlessly, and gleaming in the sunlight, toyed with a rose somebody had thrown. O'Brine, sleek and dark, nodded and smiled at the cheering crowds, blushing faintly when a bold stenographer threw a kiss from a skyscraper window.

A hundred thousand people lined the seven mile course of the triumphal parade. Overhead squads of planes circled and dived, while the great silver hulls of two army dirigibles nosed above the streets.

It was the wildest welcome since Lindbergh came home.

Hours before the parade started at 10 a.m., on the outskirts of the city, crowds had begun to gather at principal corners of the downtown skyscraper district.

For hours they waited, until finally the roar of aerial bombs and the distant blare of a band announced the flyers' arrival. Down Washington boulevard they came, while the deep street became suddenly snowy with showers of paper fragments, and deaf-

FOX THEATERS IN $100,000,000 DEAL

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(UP)—The Fox theater interests, reported to have purchased a large block of stock in Loew's Inc., several months ago from members of the Loew family, were said today to be working on a plan to merge Loew's Inc. with the Fox Film corporation and Fox Theaters, Inc., into a $100,000,000 corporation.

It is expected some action will take place in the next few months with a possible offering of new securities in the combined companies. The merger is expected to be consummated through an exchange of stock, the basis of which has not been determined.

William Fox was reported to have paid more than $100 a share for his interest in Loew's and also said to be accumulating Loew's in the open market at the present time.

EDISON MEETS YOUNG WIZARDS OF EACH STATE

Forty-Nine Boys Take Five Hour Examination Before Five Experts

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Thomas A. Edison, who has bridled electricity and harnessed light, was experimenting today in a new field in search of the intangible thing called human genius.

For raw material he had 49 nervous young Americans—one from each state and another from the District of Columbia. Today Edison will peer into their minds through the medium of a five-hour examination at his laboratory.

He will be looking for knowledge, imagination and initiative—the three things he considers requisite to success—and the boy who possesses those qualifications to the highest degree will become Edison's protégé.

Edison has reserved the right to call off the contest if the candidates fail to attain a certain intellectual standard.

There is enough at stake to make any youth nervous. The winner will receive the Edison scholarship, entitling him to a four-year course in a technical school. The other boys among the 49 may be apprehensive over the first examination which Edison gave six years ago. Then it was said 93 per cent of the young men who took it failed.

At Edison's elbow in the brain clinic today were five famed experts to assist the inventor in gauging mentality—Henry Ford, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, George Eastman, Samuel W. Stratton, headmaster of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Dr. Lewis Perry, headmaster of Phillips Exeter academy. After the examination those men will consult with Edison and their decision will be announced tomorrow.

Edison, the man from whom science has kept few secrets, admitted the possibility of error in his quest for genius.

"There is no test," he said, "no suitable yardstick which can positively determine the relative value of the human being as compared to another."

At 2:30 p. m., today, the board of supervisors completed preliminary work on Orange county's budget for next year and placed figures in the hands of County Auditor W. C. Jerome from which the total running expenses of the county will be computed.

Included in the unbudgeted reserve was a sum set aside to be available for a probable building program in case unforeseen developments such as a major calamity do not require its use for emergency purposes.

It is thought that, barring such developments, money will be available for launching construction of a new unit in the county building group to relieve congestion in the present offices. It would be possible to begin this project at the end of the present year and continue it next year with funds which would be set aside in next year's budget.

Movie Actress Discards Name Of Former Husband

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Until she marries Edward Hillman Jr., wealthy Chicago youth, on August 11, Marian Nixon, the actress, may legally call herself by her screen name.

Superior Judge Craig gave her permission to be known as Marian Nixon instead of as Marian Nixon Benjamin, the name she acquired when she was married to Joe Benjamin, ex-pugilist and former friend of Jack Dempsey.

CHARLES WAKEFIELD CADMAN TO BE ACCOMPANIST DURING BAND CONCERT THIS EVENING

HUNDREDS of music-lovers, prominent service club members, and leading business and professional men of Santa Ana today heartily welcomed celebrity to their midst, when Charles Wakefield Cadman was enthusiastically greeted as honor guest at the weekly luncheon of the local Lions club, held at St. Ann's Inn.

The elaborate concert program, scheduled for presentation in Birch Park at 7:30 p. m., tonight, in honor of the celebrated Hollywood composer by Santa Ana Municipal band under D. C. Clanton's direction, will mark one of the most outstanding musical events of the year. In fact, one of the most spectacular programs ever presented by the local band is anticipated tonight, with a record-breaking attendance from all sections of the county assured.

Mere presence of Cadman, internationally famous as America's foremost present-day composer as well as a concert pianist of recognized standing, is always in itself an irresistible lure to laymen and music-lover alike.

Tonight, however, as an added treat to local enthusiasts, the artist will himself participate, acting in the role of accompanist for Flora Myers Engel, prominent Los Angeles soprano, distinguished in the dual field of concert and oratorio. She will be heard in a group of recent Cadman songs, also the famous tragic aria, "Sulcidio," from Ponchielli's operatic masterpiece, "La Gioconda," considered one of the most dramatic arias in operatic repertoire's extensive range.

With numerous Cadman numbers to receive local premiere tonight under Clanton's baton, the complete concert program is announced as follows:

1. "Coronation March," Meyerbeer.
2. Overture, "The Barber of Seville," Rossini.
3. Selection, "The Desert Song," Sigmund Romberg.
4. Vocal, "Sulcidio" from "La Gioconda," Ponchielli. Flora Myers Engel, soprano, with Charles Wakefield Cadman at the piano.
5. March, "Arizona," Charles Wakefield Cadman.
6. Selection, "The Belle of Havana," Charles Wakefield Cadman.
7. Vocal (a) "Flower of Forgetfulness," Charles Wakefield Cadman. (b) "Shepherd Fantasy," Charles Wakefield Cadman. (c) "The Song of Life," Charles Wakefield Cadman. Flora Myers Engel, soprano, with Charles Wakefield Cadman at the piano.

JONES "FIVE AND TEN" LAW IS PROVING EFFECTIVE ALTHOUGH NO MAXIMUM PENALTY IMPOSED

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1929, by United Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(UP)—The Jones "five and ten" prohibition penalties are being imposed with moderation, according to information from Federal prosecuting officials gathered by the United Press today from many sections of the country.

While these reports are not absolutely all inclusive, they do not show a single instance in which the maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 has been imposed. Petty offenders have been given light sentences on the whole, in accordance with the discretion allowed judges by the provisions of the law.

After five months experience with this law which wets declared with too extreme federal prosecuting officers in many sections have expressed themselves as satisfied

ORANGE COUNTY CELEBRATES 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH

With but four of its pioneer officials alive to recall its formation, Orange county today celebrated its fortieth birthday. On August 1, 1889, this county was officially created and separated from Los Angeles county after a struggle which had lasted for 20 years.

Frank Ey, Santa Ana, Samuel Armour, of Orange, John P. Greeley, of Balboa, and Captain J. H. Hall, of Santa Ana, are the four living officials of the early period who today can look back on the birth of Orange county. Ey was coroner and public administrator, Armour was supervisor from the fourth district, Greeley was superintendent of schools and Captain Hall was auditor in the first period.

Major Max Strobel, Anaheim, originated the scheme for creating the county. He drew a bill in 1869, creating Anaheim county, with the San Gabriel river as the general north boundary. He went to Sacramento armed with petitions and money. But his scheme failed after he had sent home for more cash. He died in London the day before he was to close a deal whereby he was to sell Catalina island to European capitalists for $1,000,000.

After several other attempts, the county finally was created after a bill introduced by Col. E. E. Edwards, Santa Ana, was signed by the governor. Coyote creek was made the north boundary. The people ratified the action and later voted to make Santa Ana the county seat.

SEVENTEEN OF "BOMB" TRUST UNDER ARREST

Guns, Dynamite, Poison Gas and Bombs Seized By Chicago Police

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Seventeen alleged members of a "bomb" trust were under arrest here today.

The men, the state's attorney's office declared, directed manufacture and throwing of explosives in racketeering activities, were taken in a raid on their headquarters last night after exposures by James Altmeier, newly appointed policeman, assigned by Chief Investigator Pat Roche to gain the confidence of the ring.

For three months, Altmeier was in contact with the men in custody. While he worked "on the inside," his telephone conversations were listened in on by fellow officers.

Those taken into custody were: James Belcastro, said to be business agent of the Cook county Gas Fitters and Owners association, a racketeer organization.

Angelo Lucki, recently acquitted of murder.

Mike Casselli, a butcher and one of the alleged boss bomb makers.

Steve Fricke, another alleged leader and rafter of Veto.

Tony Marchio, with a long police record.

Arthur Quessell and John Bracco, both taken in a beer flat.

Sam Russo, Gus Flocca, James Angelino and Claude Snell, all said to be active about the headquarters.

Mike Romanell, Roy Doughty, Mike Arrago, Tony Rotuno and John Hinchey, who were arrested a year ago in connection with bombing.

Several bombs, all made with dynamite, a shell of poison gas, more than 100 detonating caps and several guns were seized.

BRIDGE OPPONENTS PLAN COURT FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Losing their fight in an attempt to prevent the organization of a district to finance the Golden Gate bridge project, opponents through their attorney, Casper Ornbaum, made known today that they would appeal to the United States supreme court.

The district comprises Del Norte, Marin, Napa, Mendocino, Sonoma and San Francisco counties.

NEW YORK OPERA STARS SEPARATE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Mary Lewis and Michael Franz Bohnen, Metropolitan opera singers, have parted and Miss Lewis has filed suit for separate maintenance. It became known today.

The couple came here several months ago that Miss Lewis might rest for the next opera season and that Bohnen might make a picture for Warner Brothers.

They were married in New York in April, 1927.

WRECKED AUTO IS FOUND UNDER CLIFF

A probable tragedy was being investigated by Orange county authorities today, following discovery of a wrecked automobile on the rocks near Dana Point.

According to Hobart Purdy, of San Juan Capistrano, who found the machine, it was registered to a man named Clark of Santa Ana and was a Studebaker.

Purdy reported his find to Judge Jack Landell at San Juan Capistrano and Judge Landell notified county officers.

The machine had plunged over a 120-foot cliff and was nearly demolished, Purdy reported. It was partly submerged in water.

Occupants Of Ranch House Leave Hastily

Complete Liquor Making Outfit Uncovered on Vosburg Property

A COMPLETE liquor making outfit, including a huge still, 25,000 gallons of mash and apparatus for eliminating the odor of booze, was uncovered by Anaheim police officers in a raid on the old Vosburg place on West North street, Anaheim last night.

Apparently the occupants of the place had left hastily, for the table was set for dinner and a stew was cooking on the kitchen stove.

The liquor apparatus was found in the big barn. The gas was on under the still but was not burning. Had the officers struck a match or carried a cigarette or cigar into the barn the resultant explosion would have killed them, it was declared today.

The mash was in 25 100-gallon capacity storage tanks and each tank was full to capacity. The copper still stood 25 feet in height and was several feet in diameter at the base.

The apparatus for eliminating the odor of liquor was discovered in a large pit, which was covered over with planks.

Officers dumped the mash into the pit and covered it with dirt.

Chief of Police J. S. Bouldin, who directed the raiding party, declared that the identity of the occupants of the place would be known within a short time.

The opinion was expressed that the still had been in operation for some time.

The mash would have made 18,750 gallons of liquor, officers said.

Accompanying Chief Bouldin were Officers Ross Sidesbottom, J. Stevenson, Harry Warton, Farnell, Presnell and Pifer.

WOMAN JUROR IN MURDER CASE ILL

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Illness of Mrs. Helen E. Lunsford, only woman among the 12 jurors for the trial of Dr. James Howard Snook, accused of the murder of Theora Hix, forced her withdrawal from the jury today just as evidence was to start.

The nurse appointed to act as matron for the lone woman juror and the woman alternate, reported to the court that Mrs. Lunsford suffered a hemorrhage last night, was still quite ill and would be unable to serve.

THREE MEN BURNED IN MINE EXPLOSION

FAIRMOUNT, Va., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Three men were seriously burned today in a dust explosion at the Cosgrove Meehan mine near Mannington, W. Va.

The injured men were Howard Ebnought, 41; Cecil Carpenter, 24, and Walter Bane, 40, all of Rachael. They were taken to the Fairmount State hospital.

The men were fixing a cable in the mine when the blast occurred.

Rains Aid Forest Fire Fighters In Montana Sections

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Light showers falling over western Montana yesterday and appearance of clouds in the sky today lent encouragement to 500 fire fighters engaged in resisting the advance of a dozen serious forest fires. More showers were predicted, and forest officials were hoping for some rainfall that would greatly lessen the fire hazards.

Fighting crews continued to experience difficulty in the Bitter Root and Blackfoot valleys and along dry creek, where fires continued raging despite the continued efforts of several hundred men.

A blaze along Schwartz creek was brought under control last night after it had spread from 30 to 200 acres and caused a rush of reinforcements to be sent there.

CROWN PRINCE TO SLEEP WITH 50,000 SCOUTS

Wet Weather at Work Jam-boree in England Fails To Dampen Spirits

ARROW PARK, Eng., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Heavy rains which beat intermittently throughout the night upon the tented city of the "world jamboree" of Boy Scouts, forcing cancellation of the opening night campfire ceremonies, failed today to dampen the ardor of the 50,000 lads from 67 nations as they looked forward to welcoming the Prince of Wales this evening at their "big howl."

The Prince will inspect the camp and be an interested witness at all of the colorful ceremonies of the evening and will spend the night as a guest of the boy scouts, sleeping in a tent.

Tomorrow U. S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes is to be the honor guest, but the press of diplomatic affairs will prevent his remaining overnight at Arrow Park. The Prince of Wales is to deliver an address at the international rally tomorrow, also.

The 1,300 American scouts continued today to draw a major portion of the interest of the crowds from neighboring towns and cities which disregarded the unfavorable muddy camp streets. The rain which spoiled the outdoor ceremonies last night reacted in favor of the American scouts whose commodious tents sheltered huge throngs.

The American lads provided a variety of entertainment for the visitors ranging from mimic battles to first aid demonstrations, quartets and burlesques of motion picture plays.

The New Orleans troop staged a movie burlesque which drew much applause.

The American scouts today staged a half hour demonstration of Indian dancing, axemanship, the "Pine Tree Patrol Drill" and other stunts in the main arena. The New Orleans scouts handled the "Pine tree patrol drill."

The Indian motif is carried out throughout the entire American section of the camp. William Tompkins of San Diego, Calif., gathered Nigerians, Bulgarians and Poles around his campfire before the rain descended last night, and taught them the Indian sign language.

The nurse appointed to act as matron for the lone woman juror and the woman alternate, reported to the court that Mrs. Lunsford suffered a hemorrhage last night, was still quite ill and would be unable to serve.

Witness is threatened. LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—(UP)—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theater magnate, on second degree murder charges growing out of an automobile crash, continued in municipal court today as another alleged attempt to intimidate witnesses was investigated.

UNDER CARE OF PHYSICIAN. WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(UP)—President Hoover's youngest son, Allan, is confined to his bed in the White House under the care of Lieut. Com. Joel T. Boone, his father's personal physician, as the result of acute intestinal trouble.

Boone denied reports that the president's son had a light attack of appendicitis. He said Allan would remain in bed for a few days on a diet of soft food and then probably would be fully recovered.

GRAF ZEPPELIN STARTS ON U. S. JOURNEY TODAY

plant ship into position. Shortly after the pilot gave the command to let go the ship rose rapidly and gained speed almost as quickly as she got into the air.

There was a considerable crowd of townspeople at the field to bid the ship farewell and the passengers, after arriving at the hangar by automobile, gave a little farewell party to their friends before boarding.

Dr. Eckenwerder stated that his course would be guided by weather conditions en route. At first he had hoped the weather would permit him to take the northern route, along the British channel. But when it became apparent that gathering storms would forbid his taking that route, he decided to go by way of southern France, the Bay of Biscay and the Azores islands. The weather reports along that route were favorable.

Only two of the passengers who were originally scheduled to make the trip were missing when the ship took off today—Mrs. Mary A. Pierce, of New York, and Martin Channing, of Bern. The full passenger list follows:

Passenger List

Nelson Morris, member of the Chicago packing firm; Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer; Joachim Rickard, American lawyer, a resident of Madrid; Richard Burke, aviator, San Bernardino, Calif.; Frank Nicholson, New York; Herbert Fiebel, Saginaw, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. George Crouse, Syracuse, N. Y.; Gregory Gourevitch, Polish pianist, and wife; Walter Spies, German ministry of transportation; Professor Ernst Millarich, Bonn university; Ierner Stauffacher, Basle; Heinz Von Eschwege, Berlin; Count Albrecht Montagueles, Berlin; Carl Schutz, Kiel, Germany; Dr.

Leiser Kiep, of the Hamburg American line; Count Franz Von Soden, Friedrichshafen.

When everything was in readiness for the takeoff it was suddenly discovered that one of the principal members of the trip was missing from the ship—Otto Manz, the local butcher shop owner who also is the chief cook of the Graf Zeppelin.

Officials of the Zeppelin company, accompanied by the United Press reporter, started out hunting for the chef and finally discovered him—sleeping soundly in his butcher shop.

The official weather forecast today was favorable for the first stage of the flight through France. It was announced the surplus wine which was carried along would be locked in a special iron box, when the Graf reaches the United States. The ship carried a greater supply of wines and liquor than on previous trips, but officials stated the surplus would not be thrown overboard to comply with United States regulations.

Martin Channing, expected to make the journey to the United States, failed to appear. It was believed here he missed his train from Paris.

Portland Flyer Prepares For Hop To Mexico Aug. 11

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 1.—(UP)—Tex Rankin, noted Portland aviator, will hop off on a non-stop flight from here to Auga Caliente, Mex., August 11, weather conditions permitting, he announced here today.

The flight, which is said to be sponsored by Los Angeles interests, will be made in a new type of light aircraft now being watched by the United States navy.

Rankin's promised flight will link the northwest with Mexico for the first time in the history of aviation. The distance of 1350 miles will be made in approximately 12 hours, according to Rankin.

SEEK ORANGE COUNTY SPOT WHERE CALIFORNIA'S FIRST BAPTISMS WERE SOLEMNIZED

In an endeavor to locate the spot where California's first baptisms took place and which generally is believed to be somewhere in Christianitos (Little Christians) canyon, Will McPherson and Don Meadows, of Orange, and Terry E. Stephenson, of this city, motored to southern Orange county this afternoon.

The three men are representing the Orange County Historical society, members of which have determined to find the place in order that a monument might be erected by the city of San Clemente on the highway near the point.

The baptisms took place in 1769, when the Portola expedition was traveling northward from San Diego in search of Monterey bay.

The advance scout for the party, Jose Francisco Ortega, came upon an Indian encampment somewhere in what is now southern Orange county, and while in the village he noticed that two Indian babies were very ill. Thinking that their chances for salvation would be greater if they were baptized, Ortega persuaded their parents to submit to the ceremony which was performed by Fathers Crespi and Gomez. The babies were named Margherita and Mary Magdalena.

The principal document to be used in search of the baptismal place will be Father Crespi's diary, which gives a detailed account of the journey, describing each of the camping places along its route.

The three men also are planning to locate the places in this county where Portola and his party camped.

ed on the whole in the first five months operation of the new penalties.

"That is the way it was intended," said Sen. Wesley Jones, Republican, Washington, one of the authors of the measure.

Explains Object

Senator Jones, at Emergency hospital recovering from an operation, said today it was never intended the extreme penalties should be used against small offenders. "These penalties," he said, "were intended for the large commercial violators and I think they have been effective."

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Seymour Lowman took the same view: "The Jones law was only intended for major violations and not for minor or occasional violators. I think congress very wisely increased the penalties in proportion to the magnitude of the crime in the case of larger bootleggers."

Prohibition Commissioner James S. Doran said it is too early to form a definite opinion as to what extent the Jones law is aiding in enforcement.

"However, I think it is having a deterrent effect and is beneficial," he said. "Few cases have been tried, as district attorneys are using it only in large cases involving commercial bootleggers."

Reports on the operation of the Jones law penalties in various localities were received by the United Press today as follows:

Denver Convictions

Denver—26 indictments, 13 convictions, one acquittal, 12 pending. U. S. District Attorney Ivor O. Wingren—"It restrains the small fellow from taking a 'fall' for big operators and is eliminating a lot of the big dealers."

Portland, Ore.—U. S. Attorney George Neuner—"The Jones Act has reduced the number of bootleggers. It has discouraged those working on a large scale."

Chicago—50 cases, 10 convictions of which six drew less than a year. No extreme punishments except where cases merit.

Des Moines—23 indictments, 10 convictions, two dismissals, 11 pending. Sentences ranged from 30 days to $300 fine to a year and a day in one case.

Pittsburgh—Convictions in approximately 96 per cent of cases tried, no heavy sentences.

Dallas, Tex.—Highest penalty 75 days in jail. No maximum sentences imposed.

New York City—Juries not disposed to convict. "Maintaining a nuisance" is the chief charge used and probably not more than a score of convictions have been obtained under the Jones penalties.

Boston—99 prosecutions, 43 convictions, some pending.

Buffalo—In this district the government lost both cases prosecuted by jury trial. Approximately 25 pleaded guilty waiving jury trial.

71 Indicted

District of Columbia—130 cases sent to grand jury, 71 indicted, highest sentence, two years and $3000. Assistant U. S. Attorney R. F. Camaller—"The reduced number of liquor cases is but one indication of the law's beneficial effect."

St. Louis—Two convictions. Five cases pending.

Kansas City, Mo.—In a recent batch of 1238 indictments, 23 pleaded guilty. Two were convicted by trial and one was acquitted. U. S. Attorney S. A. Carnean—"The Jones law has increased the number of guilty pleas because defendants are afraid to stand trial. Juries are easy to obtain."

St. Paul, Minn.—U. S. Attorney L. M. Drill—"The Jones law has scared most Minnesota bootleggers half to death and the resulting lack of business has driven scores of shyster lawyers out of business."

Los Angeles district—16 prosecutions, 11 convictions, five pending, for district. Highest sentence 15 months. In Fresno, average sentence five months with small fines. All cases pleaded guilty. Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Ames Peterson—"The law appears to have brought a marked decrease in this district."

San Francisco—Conspiracy law used in preference to Jones law. U. S. Attorney George Hatfield just convicted 41 bootleggers in Eureka under conspiracy law.

Passing the tall hotel Statler where the Missouri florists association is in convention a storm of roses, wreaths and great bundles of flowers struck the automobile. Roses fell in the fliers' laps and one hung over Obie's shoulder. He bent over and buried his nose in it. The incident touched the crowd. It burst into a long cheer and broke the lines of mounted police. For a moment the parade was at a standstill, as the throng poured around the car.

Then the police, swinging gleaming sabres, pushed the people back to the lines. Street cars were lined up in strings of a dozen unable to move an inch.

A diminutive newsboy pushed through the crowd ducked under a policeman's arm, barely touched Red's arm with his fingers and went back and stood silently on the sidewalk.

coming widely noted as a specialist in this work. Santa Ana has the unusual privilege of enjoying the talent and industry making possible such accomplishment on the part of our director.

Mr. Cadman recommended that Clantoni arrange his "Oriental Rhapsody" at the time he heard the local director's work for the first time at Hollywood Bowl last summer, during an impressive symphonic program directed by Clantoni at the time of the World Sunday School convention, before a record audience of over 50,000 people.

Since then the friendship and musical understanding between Cadman and Clantoni have been strengthened, with the latter's resultant arrangement for band of Cadman's spirited light opera "The Belle of Havana," in order to co-operate with the noted composer's work. The new arrangement of this number, also to receive premiere reading tonight, has just been completed by Clantoni.

Having had an opportunity to study these scores note by note, Clantoni does not hesitate to state that he regards Cadman one of the greatest American composers today, an opinion echoed by musical authorities everywhere.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Do you care whether or not other men are overwhelmed by their grief and go down in despair? If you do not, if you are hardly worth sympathy in your selfishness.

If you do care—and of course you do—you will strive, even when the shadows are darkest, to be brave and to lighten the load of doubt and depression which hovers over your fellows.

This endeavor will open your heart to comfort and strength from God with which to bear your own sorrow.

HOLLY CONCERN TO OPEN PLANT ON AUGUST 17

Harvest of the sugar beet crop will start August 14 and plant operation is scheduled to commence three days later, according to a statement made today by Robert Daniels, superintendent for the Holly Sugar corporation.

A force of between 150 and 175 men will be employed at the outset of the season's operations in the factory, situated near Delhi and the crew will be augmented rapidly during the first few days until it reaches a total of 250 men. It is expected that the force will be maintained continuously at this strength throughout the season of some 75 days, Daniels stated.

No estimate of the total number of men to be employed by contractors in harvesting could be made, but this work will furnish employment for a large additional force.

The plant will handle between 65,000 and 70,000 tons of beets during the season, which, although a slightly lower figure than that of last year, compares very favorably with the production of preceding years, Daniels said.

Operations are expected to cease in the huge sugar beet plant shortly after November 1, according to the schedule announced today by the sugar company superintendent.

WORK RUNNING INTO MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WILL BE DONE BY PHONE MEN IN THIS DISTRICT

Additions made in the last year to the Pacific Telephone company district having its headquarters in Santa Ana cost approximately $185,000, it was revealed here today by J. H. Ilse, manager of the district plant headquarters, which were transferred here this spring from Los Angeles. Additions in the Santa Ana exchange area alone, Ilse said, amounted to over $50,000. Cost of work programmed for the district crews will run into millions of dollars, the plant chief announced.

The territory included within the new transcontinental line from San Bernardino to Salt Lake City, said Ilse. "The construction of the Daggett - Las Vegas section involved the use of over 6000 poles and 100 carloads of material."

"In addition to transcontinental projects, a large amount of local work is being completed this year. A new long distance underground cable now is being completed between Santa Ana and Anaheim. One has just been placed in service between San Bernardino and Riverside. Underground conduit is to be built from Anaheim to Montebello to connect with existing underground facilities from there to Los Angeles. Conduit for a new transcontinental cable is to be built from Redlands to Whitehall (near Palm Springs) this fall, a distance of 40 miles."

Three Main Centers The three main centers outlined comprise the sub-districts of Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, and the harbor district. All plant construction, maintenance and exchange engineering within this territory is managed by the district headquarters office in Santa Ana.

The headquarters change from Los Angeles involved a transfer of approximately 40 employees and their families to Santa Ana. Of this number, approximately 25 employees are engaged in exchange engineering work within the district and the balance were transferred within the construction and district plant offices.

To adequately handle the volume of work required in the harbor district, Orange and Riverside counties and long distance construction there is at present an organization of approximately 600 plant employees. Of this number approximately 150 are located within the Santa Ana exchange area, from which all construction and exchange engineering operations are supervised. This group comprises the entire exchange engineering force, the district construction headquarters force and the construction force for the local area and Orange county and the local installation and equipment or maintenance force.

Garage Headquarters Here Santa Ana has the garage headquarters for Orange county operations. A fleet of approximately 40 cars, ranging from roadsters and small installation trucks to the larger type construction trucks required for heavy line work are housed here.

"In addition to exchange operations, our district force recently completed a heavy long distance extension between Daggett and Las Vegas, Nev., a distance of about 150 miles, to be part of a

J. M. LORENZON EXONERATED OF THEFT BLAME

An action to have probation revoked in the case of J. M. Lorenzon, of Huntington Beach, who pleaded guilty to making away with 1000 barrels of oil, several months ago, had ended today with Lorenzon still on probation and cleared of blame in an asserted second theft of oil.

He appeared yesterday in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court for a hearing and testimony given resulted in his release. Lorenzon claimed that a pipe line with a spur leading to a pump hole on property he was working and also connecting with oil tanks belonging to another party, had been used by him only for the purpose of draining water from the pump. The other operator used the pipe line for carrying oil during the day while Lorenzon used the line at night to drain off water, he said.

Roland Thompson, Santa Ana attorney, represented Lorenzon, while the prosecution was represented by Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett.

THIRD WEEKS BROTHER GOES TO TRIAL HERE

Today Richard Weeks, who came home July 4 to celebrate with his brothers, Walter and Hubert, and joined them in jail through no change in his own plans, followed their trail into superior court, where he was being tried on a charge of selling liquor.

Weeks had been wanted in the county-wide liquor raid staged several months ago by District Attorney Z. B. West Jr., and Sheriff Sam Jernigan. When he returned, unexpectedly, he found conditions here not so conducive to celebration. Both his brothers have been convicted of selling liquor and are serving six-month terms in the county jail.

Selection of a jury to hear evidence in the third Weeks trial was under way today in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court with J. B. Tucker, Santa Ana attorney appearing for Weeks, and Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins appearing for the prosecution.

Draw New List Of Talesmen Friday

Superior Judge James L. Allen announced today that the jury panel now serving would be discharged tomorrow and that a new list of talesmen would be drawn. A part of the panel is serving today in a liquor trial in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court. Following the completion of this hearing this portion of the panel also will be relieved of further duty.

Court Notes

Alleging that her husband had married her only to escape the necessity of wedding another woman, Elsie Leiter today brought suit against Leslie L. Leiter, seeking to have her marriage to him annulled. The complaint asserted that Leiter had been prosecuted in Los Angeles county for non-support of an illegitimate child, that he was convicted but released on probation and that he now is supporting the child. The complaint also alleged that Mrs. Leiter had married at the age of 16 without consent of her parents. The complaint stated that the plaintiff did not find out about the other woman until after her marriage. They were married in 1925 and separated in 1927, the complaint stated.

George W. Forester today brought suit against Lillian B. Smith, Lillian Rothamel, Wright's Transfer and Storage company, George L. Wright, M. M. Wright and B. G. Wright, asking $500 in damages for alleged wrongful detention of household goods. The complaint stated that the defendants on June 29 took the property without the plaintiff's consent.

A. E. Robertson and Olivia Robertson today filed suit against B. D. Stanley, seeking $10,140 damages for injuries alleged to have been received in an automobile accident which took place between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, on the state highway, on March 24. According to the complaint, the Stanley car collided with another machine, causing it to run into the plaintiff's car.

The will of the late William H. Illingworth, who died Dec. 21, 1928, was filed for probate today by Grace A. C. Illingworth, who was named executrix. The property is valued at approximately $2000, the petition said.

An estate valued at approximately $16,000 was left by the late Alice S. Durkee, who died July 27, in Orange, according to a petition for admitting her will to probate, filed today by F. M. Gulick, executor. Devisees named in the will were Loy Fixsen and Martin Gulick, of Orange; Thomas J. Harper, Laguna Beach; Frederick Johnson, Boulder, Colo.; and Claude A. Simmons, Orangeville, Ill.

Noel Newton pleaded not guilty to a charge of removing nursery stock from one location to another without notifying the horticultural commissioner or holding for inspection as provided by law, when arraigned before Justice Wilson. Newton was released on his own recognizance pending the examination, which was set for 9 a. m. August 6.

Continuance of the case of Frank A. Kelly, charged with driving on the highway, July 23, while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was granted by Justice Andrew Wilson, at the request of the defendant. The case will be tried at 9 a. m., August 10.

P. C. Murakimi, Japanese laborer, of El Modena, was found guilty of flooding a highway by Justice Andrew Wilson and fined $25. Murakimi was arrested by Deputy Harry Carter yesterday afternoon.

Following the examination conducted before Justice Andrew Wilson, today, Fred Bookover, charged with a statutory offense, was held to answer to the superior court. Bookover offered no testimony at the examination. He is held under $5000 bail pending trial in the higher court.

The case against J. C. Clark, charged with failure to pay wages due in accordance with the provisions of the state law, was dismissed in justice court today at the request of the district attorney's office. Settlement was made out of court, it was said.

John A. Cotter and M. S. Peebles, both of Los Angeles, who were arrested last night following an accident at Irvine station, were tried today before Justice McCharles, in Tustin. Cotter was fined $100 on a reckless driving count and his companion was fined $25 on a charge of intoxication. Cotter is being detained pending arrangements for the payment of his fine. Peebles paid his fine and was released.

SHORT DRESSES AND BARE LEGS CAUSE TROUBLE

BELFAST, Ireland, Aug. 1.—(UP)—How to ban bare legs in business is a problem that is agitating Belfast business men. The barelegged fashion which commenced with girl tennis players and athletes has now spread to typists who with the advent of hot weather have taken up the vogue with enthusiasm to the detriment, it is claimed, for the powers of concentration of male workers in the same office as the bare-legged typists.

Complaints have also been made about girls working in film party frocks, and in some cases an order has been given out for them to wear overalls, which, it is argued, may not be so handsome, but are certainly more business-like than picture frocks.

One leading manufacturer, when he found his typists arriving stockinged at their work, put up notices warning his girl workers that if they did not come to work properly dressed they would be fired.

It was no use. He couldn't fire his entire staff of typists.

Bare legs won, and the warning was taken down from the bulletin board.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Aug. 1.—Hillis Fittz and the six members of the local Boy Scout troop has returned from San Juan Hot Springs, where they enjoyed camping. A hike to the peak above San Juan was taken during their stay there and they also enjoyed the plunge.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Edwards and sons have returned from a week's vacation trip which they spent at Santa Barbara and points on north. A party of friends, two of whom had not visited in this part for about 20 years, were visitors on Sunday in the home of Mrs. Addie Blakey. The party included Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, of Buttonwillow, Kern county, and Mr. Morgan's mother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Waldorf, and son, Vinton Waldorf, of Hollywood. The Morgans returned last Wednesday from an eastern trip of 9,040 miles which they started last May, going to Mr. Morgan's boyhood home in Missouri which he last saw 38 years ago, to Montana to visit other relatives and into Canada.

In the afternoon Mrs. Edward Moody and daughter, Miss Ruth Moody, and son, Edward Moody, of Garden Grove, and Mrs. Anderson, of Anaheim, joined the party.

Mrs. Blanche Anderson and son, James, and an aunt, Miss Brecht, of Covina, were Sunday callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shell, former Westminster residents, now of Long Beach, were Sunday callers in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McCall.

The Past Noble Grands Bridge club will meet Thursday in the home of one of the club members, Mrs. Alice Hare.

Mrs. M. J. P. Hell and children spent Saturday at Newport Beach as guests of Mrs. Hell's mother and sister, who have taken a cottage for their vacation, and on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Hell and family returned to spend the afternoon with their relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger moved Tuesday to Midway City where their new modern home has just been completed. Mr. and Mrs. Mansperger have resided for eight years at the place they are leaving and which they built. El L. Hensley, of Midway City, now owns the property, it having come to him through a trade with the Manspergers for the lots where their new home is located.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Edwards and family, of Villa Park, visited Sunday afternoon with relatives in Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fenhall and baby son were entertained at dinner in the home of Mrs. Fenhall's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hoffman, in Costa Mesa, Sunday evening.

Mrs. H. B. Anderson motored to Los Angeles Tuesday and was accompanied home by her daughter, Miss Virginia Anderson, who had been visiting relatives since the last of the week.

A group of local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were at Brea Trinity lodge Monday evening as visitors at the reception given the district deputy president, Mrs. Minnie Epla, which was held in connection with the celebrating of the seventh anniversary of the lodge.

James and Ruth Goble, of this place, rendered a musical number on the evening's program and Billy Schmidt gave a reading, "The Bear Story." Those attending from the local lodge were Mrs. H. Goble, Ruth Goble, James Goble, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mansperger, Mrs. Beatrice Knapp, Mrs. W. H. Schmidt, Billy Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Falcke.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Edwards and their family left Monday for Mt. Wilson, where they are spending a vacation of a week.

Thomas Trenery, who enjoyed a motor trip to relatives in the north, has returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lamb and daughter, Miss Rachel Lamb and son, Bill Lamb, and nephew, Kenneth Lamb, of Santa Ana, and Harold Giesler, of this place, were in the party. They are expected to return home next Sunday, stopping over at Pismo Beach to hunt clams.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Talbert spent Sunday in Long Beach, where they were dinner guests of Mr. Talbert's mother and visited in the afternoon with Mr. Talbert's uncle, William Talbert, and with Mrs. Talbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Carter.

Mrs. M. L. Thurman spent Sunday as a guest in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers.

This Iron Horse is Air Minded

RECOGNIZED as one of the outstanding transportation systems of the world, it was natural for the Pennsylvania Railroad to take early leadership in developing old style flying into modern air transport. After careful study of the problems, the Pennsylvania became one of the organizers and principal stockholders of Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc.* From that moment all the enthusiasm, ability and experience of their 83 year old organization has been at the disposal of Colonel Lindbergh and his associates as they planned, surveyed and built the TAT coast to coast service.

Over a year's time and many millions of dollars were invested in TAT ground organization before operations began, to insure the maximum of reliable, comfortable speed to TAT travelers.

Lighted airways, airports, passenger stations, hangars, shops, teletype and radio network, and the world's largest private weather bureau were created.

And now TAT is in regular operation from Coast to Coast in 48 hours, and speeding up travel as well, between the local points on its line. The "air-minded" Pennsylvania, Colonel Lindbergh and their associates in TAT offer American travelers the last word in modern transportation.

For detailed information, fares, etc., regarding TAT Coast-to-Coast plane-train service, or the intermediate plane service consult agents of the Pennsylvania or Santa Fe railroads, or authorized travel bureaus, or H. CUPID BOOSTS LICENSE MARK IN JULY SPURT

The novelty of going to Yuma, Ariz. or Reno, Nev., to get married appears to be losing out in convenience and economy of having the matter attended to in California, and particularly in Orange County, it appeared today.

During June and July of this year, scores of couples, bent on turning romance into marriage, and, of course, continuing the romance, have saved quite a few dollars for enhancing their honeymoons or furnishing their homes by getting their licenses in Santa Ana, figures made public by County Clerk J. M. Backs revealed today.

Santa Ana, once the blooming Gretna Green of California, was blushing and touching up its charms today as it bowed in acknowledgment to congratulations received on completing the most successful July since the passage of the "gin-marriage" law. Despite the fact that June saw the issuing of 487 licenses here, establishing a new high record under the new law, July decided to step out for itself and show that June as the month of romance can't corner all the honors.

July set a new record for itself and saw the passing out of more licenses than have been issued in any July since the three-day law became effective. A total of 429 licenses were issued, a boost of over 100 in advance of the 325 issued in 1928, Backs announced.

A. A. Litten, 56, Succumbs After Illness Of Year

A. A. Litten, 56, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jack Taves, in South Gate, yesterday. The body was brought to Santa Ana last night. Litten was the brother of I. E. Litten, of this city, and for years was in business in Anaheim. His death was the result of a year's illness.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Anaheim Odd Fellows in the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, here, and will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The widow is the sister of Mrs. I. E. Litten, who has operated the Litten Maternity

BEGIN ERECTION OF FAIR TENTS SOON. IS WORD

The directors of the Orange County fair, last night, were informed by Director S. W. Stanley, who also is secretary of the fair, that erection of the first tents would begin early next week. While the fair does not open until August 23, an early start is necessary for installation of carpenter work, partitions, floors, etc.

H. E. Wooding, of Venice, whose trained animal act has been engaged, stated that among the numbers would be a four-pony novelty drill, performing dog comedy acts in a rope walking act and a football kicking pony. George Kellogg, who has charge of the feature tent, reported that nearly all the floral spaces have been taken.

The Garden Grove Farm center in conformity with the motif "Pioneer Days in California," will present a scene of placer and rock mining where fruits are being mined rather than minerals. Yorba Linda will show the Santa Ana canyon and the old Yorba hacienda, portraying first the desert and then the present horticultural development.

The city of Orange has chosen an early day fiesta with eight figures in Spanish costume, dancers and spectators.

The Escondido entry will have the old mission bells, while San Juan Capistrano will portray the mission in that community.

West Orange will exhibit a contour map of the county, the map being made up of fruits.

Tustin, Fullerton, San Bernardino and Riverside, all of which will enter exhibits, have not yet chosen their themes.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna M. Litten; two sons, Walter L. and Maurice L. Litten, of Long Beach; one daughter, Mrs. Jack Taves; three brothers, O. P. Litten, of Santa Fe Springs; M. H. Litten, of Hollister, Calif.; and I. E. Litten, of Santa Ana; three sisters, Mrs. George Gitzinger, of Washington; Mrs. A. C. Brown, of Corvallis, Neb.; and Mrs. E. Brown, of Wasco, Calif.

Respectfully yours,

Consulting Engineer.

Dear Friend:—I was only able to talk to Mr. Echenique yesterday, Friday, 19th. The interview took place at Mr. Romer's store in the presence of Mr. Romer. I questioned Mr. Echenique along the lines set out in your letter of July 2nd in reference to statements of his, Mr. Echenique's, which appeared in the Santa Ana Register of June 24th, 1929, the article published over the signature of H. C. Head.

Mr. Echenique made a complete denial, stated that he did not know Mr. Finkle: "How could I employ anyone that I did not know?" He also stated that he had not seen the article in the paper, and doubted its publication. He further stated that he had not seen Mr. H. C. Head or communicated with him for over two years.

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor Register—Enclosed is a self-explanatory statement from Engineer F. C. Finkle as it was received, and in justice, we believe that the replies to his inquiries should be published.

Sincerely,
WATER USERS' ASSOCIATION,
J. C. Metzgar, Executive Director.

Water Users' Association
of Orange County,
418 Otis Building,
Santa Ana, California.

Attention: Mr. J. C. Metzgar, Executive Director.

Gentlemen: Herewith, I enclose three copies of letters from Mr. W. P. Magee of San Juan Capistrano and from Mr. Francis C. Finkle of Riverside, obtained by me in my search of information bearing upon the false and libelous statements published by Mr. H. C. Head concerning myself in a letter to the Santa Ana Register of date June 24, 1929, at the close of the late bond campaign, when it was too late for me to publish anything to refute the totally false and malicious statements of Mr. Head. You will observe that Mr. Head must have manufactured the statement he attributed to Mr. C. Echenique of Capistrano out of whole cloth, as I know that Mr. Echenique's version to Messrs. W. P. Magee and Carl Romer of Capistrano is true, relying upon the high character and honor of all three of these gentlemen. As to Mr. C. Finkle, who admits that he made a statement of some kind to Mr. Head, it will be observed that Mr. Head entirely changed it to my injury before he published it. Mr. C. Finkle was in Orange County making stump speeches for the $16,500,000 proposed bond issue with Mr. Head and what his erroneous recollection prompted him to say may have been the work of his enthusiasm and imagination, but I can hardly be so charitable towards Mr. H. C. Head.

I trust you will give the widest possible publicity in the press of Orange County to the letters from Mr. Magee and from Mr. C. Finkle, and you may publish this letter or not as you choose, for I think the people of Orange County are entitled to know that there was nothing on which Mr. Head could base his personal attacks during the last bond campaign.

Respectfully yours,
F. C. FINKLE,
Consulting Engineer.

FRANCIS CUTTLE
Riverside, Calif.
July 25, 1929.

Mr. F. C. Finkle, Suite 717-721 American Bank Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.
Dear Sir:—Answering yours of July 23rd regarding statement appearing in the Santa Ana Register of June 24, 1929 attributed to myself, through relating a conversation to another party, will say:

The statement was made as my distinct recollection of the occurrence, which was approximately 14 or 15 years ago and is as follows:

That you were then, or just prior to that time had been, employed by the Riverside Water company, of which I was then President, as an engineer and that you asked me if I would need your services in the suit which was then being talked about between San Bernardino and Riverside, and I stated to you that your services would not be required in that case, and later you were employed by the City of San Bernardino.

However, as you have furnished me with copies of letters between yourself and the attorney for San Bernardino in that case, which you state was prior to the time I recalled the conversation, it is evident that I must have been mistaken, as I have no documentary evidence to substantiate my recollection. Under the circumstances I wish to correct the statement which appeared in the Orange County paper and attributed to myself relating to this matter.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) FRANCIS CUTTLE,
Los Angeles, Calif., July 27, 1929.

I hereby certify that the above is a correct copy of a letter received by me from Mr. Francis C. Finkle, postmarked at Riverside, July 25, 1929, and received at my office July 26, 1929. Note that the statement Mr. C. Finkle admits he erroneously made to Mr. H. C. Head does not correspond with the statement which Mr. Head attributed to him and published in the Santa Ana Register of June 24, 1929.

(Signed) F. C. FINKLE.

(A department store buyer told me the secret)

"BILL calls me the best-dressed girl he knows. He doesn't guess that I spend less than most of the girls do."

"Just the other day he complimented me on my 'new' dress—and it was a dress I had all last summer!"

"A buyer in our best department store told me my secret. 'If you wash nice materials in Lux,' she said, 'you'll find they stay new looking twice as long.'"

"Since then, I've always used Lux. And my dresses and stockings and underthings stay like new for perfect ages! That gives everything I wear a much nicer look, and best of all, it saves me money for extra clothes, because I don't have to spend all my money just replacing worn-out things."

You, too, can keep everything you wear looking brand new so much longer, if you always use pure, safe Lux.

Then you won't have to spend all your clothes money replacing worn-outs—you can afford many extra clothes!

DETROIT POLICE TO HAVE RADIOS FOR RESEARCH

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—Detroit patrolmen soon may walk their beats with a new weapon—individual radio receiving sets concealed in their clothing.

Spurred by the success of broadcasting messages and orders to police automobiles equipped with radio, the Detroit police department is experimenting with a miniature receiving set for the use of the individual patrolman.

The experimental set is four inches wide, six inches long and an inch and a quarter deep. The aerial consists of 75 feet of wire sewed into a piece of cloth. The remainder of the set includes three dry-cell batteries and an ear phone similar to those used by the deaf. The weight of the outfit is less than four pounds.

The batteries slip into pockets of the vest; the aerial can be sewed to the back of the vest and the receiver itself may be attached to the belt, a shoulder holster or in a special pocket in the vest or coat of the patrolman.

Sgt. William H. Burkahl, designer of the set, says that the ear phone can be worn under the coat lapel when not in use. A penetrating sound arrests the wearer's attention when the reports of a holdup, burglary or other crimes are broadcasted.

The local police department, under the direction of Commissioner William P. Rutledge, was one of the first in the country to equip police cruisers and scout cars with radio receiving sets and loud speakers. More than 700 arrests are credited to the radio-equipped cruisers.

This delicate instrument gives scientific observers a blow-by-blow description of a stenographer's bout with a typewriter in a noisy office. . . . The speediest typists are slowed up five per cent by excessive noise.

By DONALD A. LAIRD
Director Colgate Psychological Laboratory

A WHOLESOME grocery salesman in New York city stopped his car recently in front of a customer's store and honked his horn noisily to bring the proprietor to the curb. The storekeeper was busy waiting upon some of his own customers and did not appear at once. So the impatient salesman again played a few arias and an obligato or two on the horn of his car.

He got results—but not what he had expected. A gentleman dressed in blue serge approached his car and requested a ride to the nearby station house where the salesman was booked as a menace to the health of the city.

Probably the chagrined salesman muttered some words about personal liberty while his name was being blotted on the police register, and a few words more about subway noises and frightful police sirens. But John Law stood his ground that although sounding a modern bugle call for his customer may have been a highly efficient method of drawing his customer's attention, that it nevertheless constituted an unnecessary menace to the public health of the citizens of Bagdad on the Subway. The following morning the judge concurred in the opinion.

On almost the same day that these ill events took place in New York, M. Jean Chiappe, prefect of the police of Paris, served notice that drivers of automobiles must be conservative in the use of their horns. He cited Dr. Genil-Perrin, chief physician of the asylums of the Seine, who has pointed out that many noises are harmful to the nervous functions. Backed with this scientific support and official order the police rounded up in excess of 200 drivers who were making unnecessary noise between the hours of 1 and 5 a. m. the first day of the order.

ENGLAND, however, remains the noise maker's Mecca. There, Acts of Parliament make noise making imperative. Beggars cannot ask largess of the citizenry, for instance, unless they make a noise on some "musical" instrument or "sing," which is usually still worse. The police have to enforce this law. English churches are also required by law to sound their bells before all services. And motorists are required to use their horns a great deal.

National characteristics are further revealed in the German attitude toward noise. There the Association of German Engineers has posted an intriguing cash prize for the best engineering scheme to abolish the din and clatter of the big city or the industrial enterprise.

Much of the agitation for quieter cities and work places, however, has all the earmarks of emanating from reformers. In Pittsburgh a few years ago, for instance, certain women's organizations were aggressively active in running down all squeaks and squawks.

There was a convenient ordinance on the city books which gave power to include bothersome noises as health menaces, and the women reported every noise they did not like to the health commissioner. For a time they kept him so busy that in one of his annual reports he was forced to state that they had kept him so busy silencing barking dogs and stopping noisy cat fights that he had not been able to do much else during the fiscal year just closed!

Ignoring both those who are abnormally sensitive to noises and those who are unusually callous and right at home in a boiler factory, we are forced by the trends of many lines of research to admit that a reasonable degree of quietness is desirable for personal or industrial welfare.

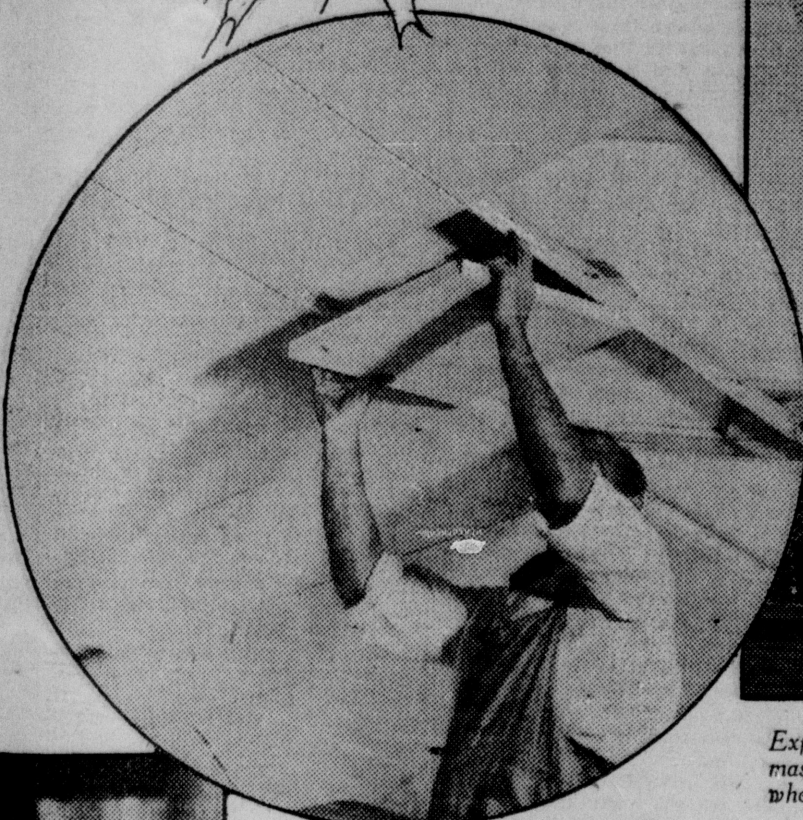

It is becoming pretty well demonstrated that the quietly operated workplace is the more productive in the long run. There are several interesting and unexpected reasons for this. One purely mechanical reason tells us that the workroom fitted with quiet running machinery is more efficient just from the mechanical standpoint, for noise means unnecessary friction, wear, and power costs in the machine itself.

TURNING to what noise does to human beings we discover many vague references to "nerve tension," although that may mean almost anything. Edison has predicted that it is possible all of us shall be deaf within the century, and while this is more definite than "nerve tension," it is further from the truth.

Workers in boiler factories, it is true, do have an abnormally high percentage of premature deafness among their number, but there are not many indications that our streets will be as noisy as boiler factories for many years to come. In fact, in passing we should probably add that the streets among themselves as an evidence of excess vitality, and are more friendly with the experimenters. These remarkable differences brought about by noise are verified in spite of the fact that compared with human beings the white rat is slightly deaf!

ORDINARY office noise slows up typists about five per cent, according to the most careful observations. There is one series of records recently published which would indicate that noise stimulated typists to a little greater speed, but these records were invalidated when it was discovered also that there were many visitors in the quiet room while the noisy typing room had scarcely any visitors. At first, however, it seemed that it was the noise which caused the greater speed, while second thought revealed that it was the large number of visitors which cut down the speed in the quieter room.

Of course speed is not the sole aim; even in office machinery wear and tear is considered as well as speed. Some evidence of the wear and tear on office workers due to noise is indicated by typists burning up 19 per cent more bodily energy when working in a noisy room than in a quiet room.

Most of this wear and tear is not directly due to using the fingers on the Electric welding is quieting the "rivet racket" . . . but construction noises still account for many involuntary fear reactions in the breasts of the most hardened city dwellers.

and homes are more likely to be quieter and I would not be surprised to see quietness supplant color as an important sales appeal.

So it may be that sheer sales effort rather than reformers' tirades will be the principal agency back of a quieter, and probably better, world.

The scientific basis for believing that noises should be seriously considered, deals with experiences of which few of us are directly aware. The bodily changes brought about by noise are very similar to those precipitated by fear. Certain noises, in fact, are natural stimulants for causing a fear reaction, and thereby the plot thickens.

THE fear reaction does not refer to the mental state entirely. It is possible to have a fear reaction without being mentally fearful that burglars are in the house. The bodily fear reaction is serious; pulse rate and blood pressure are changed unfavorably, glands such as the salivary are slightly dried up, all the voluntary muscles of the body are tensed more than normal, and in marked fear reactions the muscles in the digestive tract are paralyzed and digestion effectively halted. The digestive and blood changes may profoundly alter the physical make-up of man.

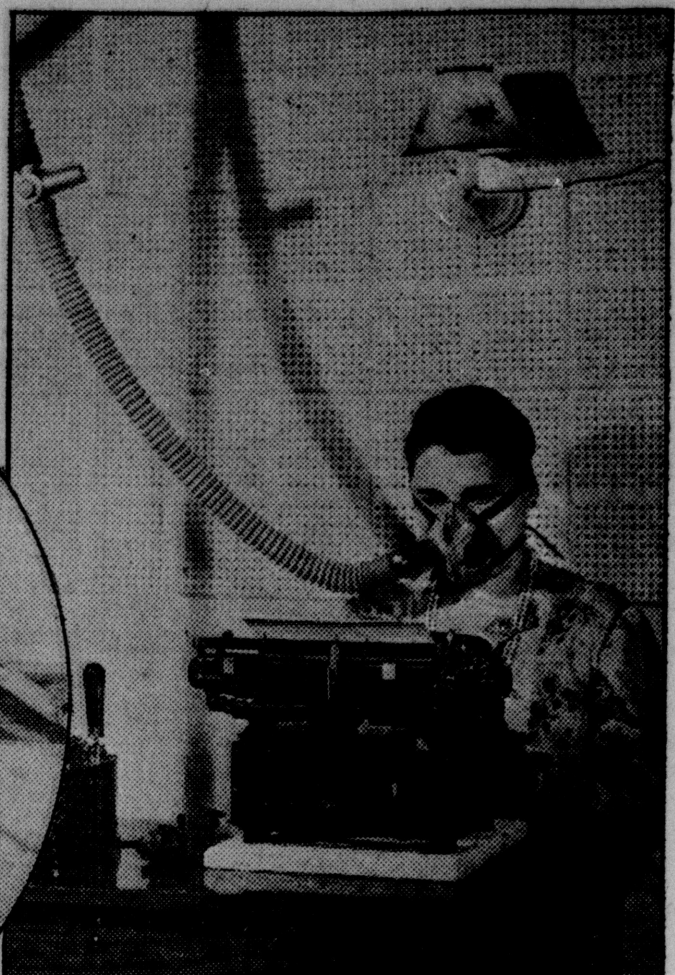

It has long been known that country boys and girls grow more rapidly than city boys and girls. English investigators have just verified the fact that this holds for adults as well, especially in the case of women where the physique of the city women is found to be greatly inferior to that of their country cousins.

All of this difference, of course, cannot reasonably be due solely to the country places being vastly quieter. The noise, or its absence, could be logically suspected of having its effect in view of what is known about the fear reaction precipitated by noise, but there are also significant matters such as diet, sunshine and exercise which help account for the difference.

A crucial test of the bearing of the fear reaction caused by noise is under way in the Colgate Psychological Laboratory. It has been verified that rats kept under laboratory-manufactured noise of average city intensity and composition eat less and grow less than their brothers and sisters kept in relative quiet.

The food, air, sunshine and other factors are the same for both groups of rats; noise is the only significant factor that varies, yet the rats kept away from the noise are growing faster, are more lively and playful, have more fights vehicles that produce a fair amount of racket.

Experiments conducted with the aid of this metabolism mask prove that typists burn up 19 per cent more energy when working in a noisy room than amid quiet surroundings. . . . Tense muscles make the difference.

Street traffic is the principal component in city noise. Eliminate or silence New York's trucks, cabs, trolleys, subways, and other noise nuisances and its streets would almost be as quiet as the Connecticut hills to which its inhabitants take refuge to relax their muscles and digestive apparatus, and let their blood stream come back to nearer normal.

At Tremont and Stuart streets in Boston when there is no traffic the noise intensity at their intersection is barely 40 units—0 units being inaudible and 100 so intense that it just begins to make the ear drum tingle. But with traffic present this intensity rises quickly to 65 noise units; and the indications are that 45 units are all that are allowable to avoid the fear reaction. Even with no traffic on this corner the noise intensity reached 40 units because of noises from other corners which come through the air, and also from the "telegraphing" of distant noises through pavements and connected buildings, for noise will go through cement 10 times as fast as it goes through air.

LOCATIONS just off the main arteries of street traffic usually rent at a slight discount, when in reality they should rent at a premium for they have helped solve many noise problems by their location. Unless, of course, there is a factory or an exceptionally noisy office in the building itself. The building on a street paved with smooth macadam or asphalt will be quieter than one paved with brick or cobble stones. Rubber paving blocks are now being used in England.

The only way to conquer noises in a room is by absorption. A noise generated in an ordinary room, for instance, actually increases in intensity due to the walls reflecting rather than absorbing sound. Clapping one's hands once in an ordinary room will demonstrate the lingering reverberation of the sound caused by the sound-reflective walls prolonging and intensifying the noise. A single sound may be reflected 200 times before becoming inaudible.

A room with curved walls is usually worse in its noise effects since the curvatures have a tendency to focus the reflections, as is done in the whispering gallery in the capitol building at Washington, where if you whisper in one portion your whispered words will sound like a broadcast in other parts of the room.

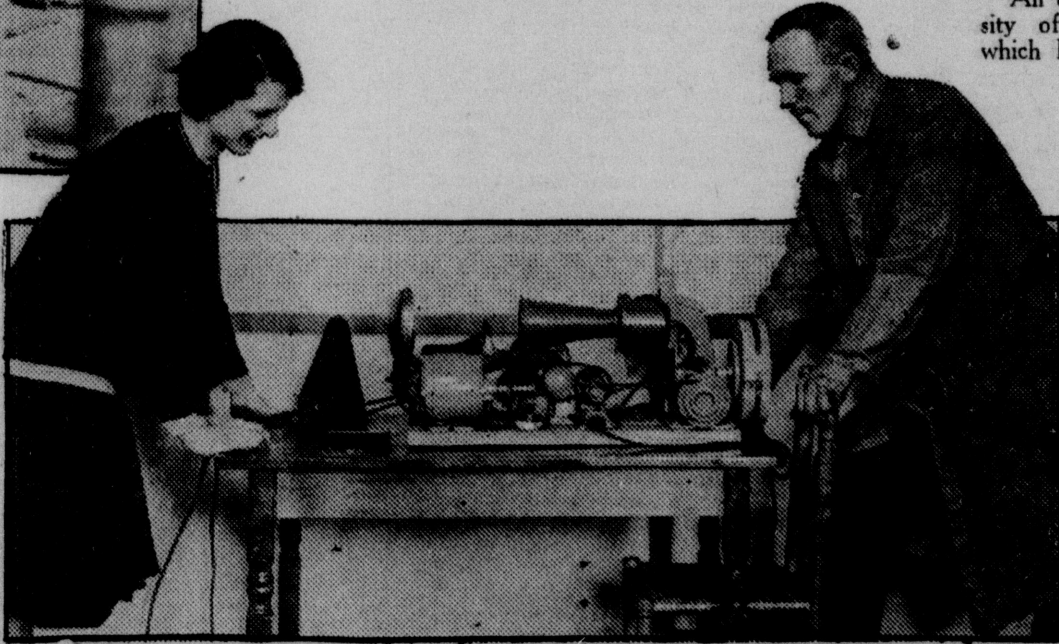

An old auditorium at the University of Illinois has curved walls which have played many interesting pranks through this focusing of reflected sound waves. Several distinct echoes can be heard in the room. On one important occasion the band, resplendent in new uniforms, was on the platform playing a welcome for some distinguished guest. But the director stood right where one of these echoes was focused on to his ears. He began beating time to the echo, and the echo being a second or two behind time in reaching him, you can imagine the demoralizing effect upon the music when some of the players started following his time while others were following the particular echo which happened to be focused on their ears. That was the last band performance in that auditorium until the curved surfaces were treated with building materials which absorbed rather than reflected the sound.

A large room is usually worse for building up noise than a small room. That is why noise is often lessened by installing adjustable partitioning so that one large room is separated into several small rooms. None of the partitioning on the market is sound absorbent, but it does often help either by partitioning off an especially noisy machine, or by reducing the volume of a room so that the reverberation is lessened.

THE best remedy for noises in home, office, or factory is to have the walls as sound absorbent as possible. Orthodox building materials do not fill this requirement. There are several special building materials which have been developed to have high absorbing value, and any architect should be able to tell you about these on a moment's notice.

As an illustration of what may be expected, a small experimental office in the Colgate Psychological Laboratory is fitted with two walls, an ordinary plaster wall and a demountable wall of highly absorbent material. When the plaster wall is being used the room has a reverberation period in excess of two seconds, that is, if a single handclap is made in the room it can be heard for two seconds. Contrasted with this noise condition when the noise-absorbent wall is in place, the reverberation period is scarcely one-quarter of a single second.

Colgate University's ingenious noise-maker. . . . A dozen boys in a boiler factory in Times Square couldn't make more racket. . . . It helps science to study the ear-splitting things that threaten to unbalance man, physically and mentally.

keyboard, but to all muscles of the body being slightly tensed in a moderate fear reaction such as is present also in the laboratory rats.

The most marked effect of noise appears in the higher mental processes, such as the executive thinks he uses. These are retarded by about 30 per cent on the average, although averages in the higher mental processes are difficult to strike.

There are always a small number of people, however, who assert that they can work better under noise, in spite of the wide array of scientific information indicating the contrary.

To the psychologist, their opinion does not indicate that noise serves as a necessary stimulus, but that most of us have certain working habits to which we are enslaved, and that when one element in the total working situation is altered for the better it is difficult to make an immediate adjustment in our working habits.

TEN per cent of the people of the world, at most, are responsible for 99 per cent of the world's noise. In America we have the spectacle, for instance, of one night owl truck driver making more noise in a city block than all the residents combined. But this is not a matter of our machine civilization alone.

In Pekin everything almost is sold by barkers on the streets. Whether it is day or night makes no difference, there are still hawkers out noisily selling shaves or shirts. Old Moscow did not have backfiring, siren-equipped motor trucks, but it did have cobblestone pavements and steel-tired

Laguna Council Delays Action On Street Names

CONTRACTORS GET TIME ON STREET JOBS

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 1.—Street naming, contemplated on a wholesale basis, with artists' names to take the place of the somewhat haphazard system in present use, hovered in the balance before the city council last night. However, when the members of the council got into the matter, they decided that it was too serious for quick action and filed it for more mature consideration. That the firemen, previously credited with having favored the plan, did not feel so inclined was the assertion of Councilman R. D. Lippincott, police and fire commissioner. The report was made at the request of the council by Dr. Frances E. Callister, one of a specially named committee.

Extensions of time on contracts were granted E. M. Funk, 15 days, on Diamond street, and Steele Finley 30 days on Park avenue and five other streets. The latter carries a proviso, however, that such portions of the streets as are ready to receive hard surface be given this at once so that the extension will work no hardship on residents on sections of the street now subgraded.

Items given minor consideration before the council were chlorination of sewage, with a committee to be appointed to make a recommendation; compulsory insurance of city employees, appointment of a tree warden, consideration of the request of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce to consider Sea-shore highway as a suitable name for the coast road, but declined in favor of Coast boulevard; letter of Kate E. Yoch asking that Glenn-eyre be not widened, denial of a petition of improvement of one block of Cypress street, instruction to the city engineer to have a hedge on Aster street moved from city property.

An ordinance fixing salaries of employees of the sanitary department, taken over recently by the city, was given two readings. The ordinance to establish the size of subdivisions was laid over another week for amendments.

THEY HAVE FUN
The New York writers who are assigned to the task of recording the activities of the Brooklyn baseball club haven't as sorrowful a job as it might seem. The New York sport editors usually assign to the Robins a young fellow with a sense of humor, and they have a lot of fun. As is evidenced by the following clipping:
"With hitters like Babe Herman, Gink Hendrick and Rube Bressler meeting that lively ball, the Robins are apt to bust up a ball game against any pitcher. Herman, while still showing a tendency to goofiness at times, is fielding better than he did last year, when he seemed to be trying to catch outfield flies with his feet. Which recalls an Clearwater, Fla., spring when the Phils came to the Robins' camp for an exhibition game. Owing to a shortage of backers in the clubhouse, it was necessary for the players to double up. Herman was instructed to share his locker with Fresno Thompson, the Phils' second baseman.
"All right, throw your stuff in there," said the Babe, "but it's very embarrassing to me to share a locker with a 250 hitter."
"And it's embarrassing to me," replied Fresno, "to share one with a 250 why?" . . .

WHY WASTE ME NOW?
Mr. Herman, who is one of the best natural hitters in baseball, is aware of that fact. At a game between the Giants and the Robins at the Polo Grounds, Mr. Herman because of recent fielding atrocious, was riding the bench. In his seventh, while the team was at bat, Manager Robinson decided to send in another pitcher in the last half of the inning, and instructed Herman to bat for the boxman about to be relieved.
"Why send me up now, with nobody on base?" demanded Mr. Herman. "Save me! You might have a couple of men on in the ninth and nobody but Bancroft or somebody to go to bat!" . . .

HARLOW CREW SMART
Bob Harlow got smart a number of years ago and quit the newspaper racket in Boston to go into the managing of golfers in a big way. He picked himself Walter Hagen as the tool for his new enterprise and he did as much as the Hags' clubs to put him over. He did as much for the Hags as Christy Walsh did for the Babe. And, jaws knows, that's plenty.
Along with his Hags, Harlow has Horton Smith, the boy wonder of the base and he is campaigning them through the country. Young Smith, according to Harlow, was considerable of a bick when he started out, but he has learned quickly and has acquitted some good lines. . . .

SMITH GETS SMART, TOO
"A couple of weeks ago we had

KINSLAWS TOSS AWAY PENNANT CHANCE

Mandell Worried On Eve Of Title Battle

MAKING WEIGHT FORCES CHAMP TO ROAD WORK

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Still two pounds overweight and obviously worried as to whether he would be weakened by making the 135 pound limit, Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, was forced into rigorous training today for his title bout Friday night with Tony Canzoneri, the smiling New York Italian.
Mandell had planned on only light training today and tomorrow but at the end of his most strenuous training session yesterday, he weighed 137 1/4 pounds. There was an immediate conference between his manager and advisers and it was decided Sammy should go on the road for a hard workout this morning and then put on "sweat togs" in the afternoon.
Until today the champion had scoffed at reports he would have difficulty making the weight. But he plainly is concerned now and the face which in all previous fights has won a look of unconcern, was marked with worry.
Sammy's handlers hoped they could shake the superfluous poundage without resorting to drastic measures employed by Tommy Loughran who abstained from all liquids for 24 hours previous to his recent fight with Jimmy Braddock and they eagerly awaited the report of the scales which was to come after Sammy's training today.
Mandell's weight difficulties seemed to do not worry his backers. The odds on him remained at between two and three to one. There was plenty of Mandell money and little of Canzoneri's to take it.
The opinion remained that it would be a great fight with Mandell using his left to keep Tony at a distance. Canzoneri's one chance of victory apparently was by knockout and this possibility seemed remote.
Tony, in his training, has been intent on developing a body punching style which he hopes will baffle the champion.
He realizes Mandell is the better boxer but he thinks he can crash through the title holder's left and inflict damaging body punishment. If he does, this will set a precedent, for no one has yet been able to touch Mandell's stomach.
"I realize that hitting Mandell's body has been too much of a task for most of the men he has met," Canzoneri said today. "I may be wrong, but I never have met a man who could take it in the stomach. When you hit any of them there, they're hurt. You can't tell me Mandell is an exception. They talk about a left hand which will beat a tattoo on my nose. That left hand may do just that, but I can't recall anybody whom Mandell ever hurt with his left. He may be throwing a lot of lefts into my face but one of those I land in his stomach will be worth 25 of his."
Mandell disagreed with them. Always a confident fighter, Sammy doesn't think Canzoneri can touch him. He believes he will box rings around the challenger.
"I can't see why I should change my style for him," Mandell said, "and I'm going to stick the left in front of me and keep it there. He can't get inside of it and I know it. I've heard about his plans to concentrate on my stomach. I wonder what he thinks my left is for?" . . .

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 1.—(UP)—You won't get killed if you handle your rifle carefully.
This is the final word of warning by the State Fish and Game Commission to the hunters of Santa Ana, who will be in the field today when the deer hunting season opens in Districts 2, 2 1/2 and 3.
The hunter is his own worst enemy as far as fatal and non-fatal accidents are concerned, the commission disclosed in connection with the first computation of tragedies made since 1925.
Of 43 persons who met death in hunting accidents in 1928, 26 were in accidents where the hunter himself was responsible. Of 65 persons more or less seriously injured in hunting accidents last year, 35 accidentally shot themselves, while the remainder involved a companion.
There were, of course, several who "didn't think the gun was loaded." Others weren't careful in removing their rifle from their automobile, or in pulling it after them through a fence. Several slipped and fell, caus-

Hunters Will Secure Deer License Tags

Scores of Orange county deer hunters were equipped with the new 1929 deer license tags when dawn broke this morning, the first deer hunting day of the year, according to Joe Backs, county clerk.
Backs was unable to state the number who had procured licenses, but stated that 500 of the tags were "out." He said he had not been notified how many of these have been sold.
Hunters were warned to make sure which districts of the state were open before starting on their deer hunting expeditions.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 1.—The York-Round archery record set in England by Horace Ford in 1850 fell yesterday before the bow of Dr. E. K. Roberts to Ventura who piled up 1398 points during two days shooting. Dr. Roberts was national champion last year and is expected to retain the title this year.
Mrs. Audrey Crubbs of Los Angeles, was crowned women's national champion for 1929, with Mrs. Helene Raymond second and Mrs. Beatrice Hodgson, last year's title holder, third.
John Jefferson of Glendale, shooting at an inch-wide target at 100 yards, won the Robin Hood wand shoot trophy, while Miss Ida Hancock, of Los Angeles, won the event among the women entries. Nearly 170 archers are entered in the national competition at Hope ranch polo field here.
Three national records were broken yesterday, two of them by Dr. George Bathey, of Portland, Ore., and one by Mrs. Homer Trouty, also of Portland.

PHILADELPHIA CUBS FAVORED TO WIN RACES

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(UP)—Odds quoted today on the major league pennant races make the Philadelphia Athletics 1 to 3 favorites to win the American league pennant and the Chicago Cubs 7 to 5 favorites to capture the National league flag.

Despite the New York Yankees' current seven game winning streak, betting commissions concede the pennant to the Athletics and are quoting 3 to 1 against the world champions.

Even choices with the Cubs a few days ago, the Pittsburgh Pirates are now 2 to 1, with the odds likely to lengthen still more unless Donie Bush's club comes out of its slump soon.

Odds quoted on the two pennant races follow:

AMERICAN LEAGUE Odds

Athletics, 1-3.
Yankees, 3-1.
Browns, 15-1.
Indians, 25-1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Odds

Cubs, 7-5.
Pirates, 2-1.
Giants, 2 1/2-1.
Cardinals, 12-1.

Although the Giants are 11 games behind the league-leading Cubs, betting commissions are offering shorter odds on McGraw's club than on the Yankees, the latter only 9 1/2 games behind the league-leading Athletics.

The Giants always have been a favorite among the men who wager on baseball games and they have visions of McGraw driving his team for all it's worth to the very last day of the season. They never count the Giants out of the running until the race is over.

With their crippled pitching staff and uncertain lineup, in which Babe Ruth is in and out of the game and Mark Koenig and Les Durocher are switching at shortstop, the Yankees are figured as practically through by the betting fraternity.

The only hope for the Yanks, according to the odds layers, is for them to take at least eight out of the ten remaining games with the Athletics. If the Athletics break even with the Yanks they figure to breeze home to the pennant.

With a 5-game lead over the Pirates, the Cubs are likely to drop to even money choice within the next two weeks unless the Pittsburgh club recovers itself or the Giants start one of their Garrison finishes.

TIERNAN TEAM COPS LEAD IN LEAGUE RACE

Within clear sight of the pennant for the second part of the split Santa Ana Night Baseball League, the Kinslow Machine Shops team "went haywire" against the Tiernan, winners of the first half, last night at the Olive street bowl, and took a lacing, 10 to 4.
Opportune base knocks, costly errors, wild pitches and passed balls will beat any baseball team, and the league leading Kinslows were no exception to the rule. "Zuse" Ochoa, star twirler for the machinists, was off form, yielding 11 safe blows and his control was at no time dependable, at least three runs being scored through wild pitches with a man on third.
At the same time, "Zuse" was not altogether to blame. The support given him was miserable, the scorekeeper chalking up seven errors against the Kinslows, which

CANZONERI WAS ONCE PUPIL OF PETE HERMAN

BY WM. M. BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Writer

The shadow of a great little fighter will hover at the ringside in Chicago tomorrow night when Tony Canzoneri, Italian boy from New Orleans, gets his shot at the title that another Italian boy, Sammy Mandell, has held so long.

TONY CANZONERI IN TRAINING FOR MANDELL

New pictures of Tony Canzoneri in his training camp in Chicago as he prepared to meet Sammy Mandell for the world lightweight championship, to be staged Friday night. At the left is Tony in fighting pose. Above, right, Tony is in the center ring roadwork with his handlers. Below, Mandell's challenger is shown sparring. He is to the right, all in white.

The shadow will be Pete Herman, bantam champion of the old days, of whom the little New Orleans kid was once a pupil. Pete was nearing the close of his spectacular career when the youthful Tony's ambitions turned ringward. Canzoneri was 14 then and that was about 10 years ago. It was after Pete lost his title to Joe Lynch and the lights in his crafty eyes began to fail that he started grooming Tony for a whirl at the big shots. One day Sammy Goldman, who had managed Pete in his championship days, received a telegram from Herman saying he was sending along a "Herman, Jr." to New York, and that "Herman, Jr."

would give a good account of himself in any ring.

First Kyo in Garden

Goldman went to the train to meet the little fellow, who was not yet 20 years old. For a year Goldman campaigned Tony through the amateur ranks. Then, at 20, Tony was given a few professional bouts and in his first battle knocked out Jack Gardner in a round at the Rockaway Beach club. Twenty-nine more six-rounders followed, and Tony was returned victor in 19 of these battles.

When the new Madison Square Garden was opened, Tex Rickard offered a $500 prize to the boxer who would score the first knock-out there. Tony was the lad who did it. Bushy Graham, Andre Routis, Johnny Green, Archie Bell and Vic Burrone fell victim to Tony's punches. Finally came a crack at the disputed featherweight title, in which the New Orleans lad won from Benny Bass.

Into Lightweight Ranks
Since last September, when Canzoneri lost the featherweight title to Andre Routis of France, he has been fighting as a lightweight, with considerable success.

There are those among the experts who say that Tony couldn't hit Sammy Mandell with a carload of tomatoes to pick from. Perhaps he can't; Mandell is a hard little fellow to nail. But if Tony will remember what Pete Herman taught him about bringing around the right cross, it is just possible that Sammy will be upset.

Insofar as Tony's not having a chance to smite Sammy is concerned, what Rogers Hornsby said once about hitting seems to apply here: "You've always got a chance while you keep swinging at 'em."

WAITE HOYT OUT OF GAME FOR 10 DAYS

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. — Waite Hoyt, New York Yankees' star right hand pitcher, who has been ill in bed for a week with an infected leg, today faced another 10 days absence from the world champions.

The infection started mysteriously on the left shin but later spread to the left hip. Dr. George C. Adie who has been treating Hoyt, said it would be several days before he could definitely determine when the Yankee pitcher could leave his bed.

'BUGS' BAER WILL BE ON AIR TONIGHT

The "Half Hour of Happiness," each Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:30, brings before the microphone of KJH "The Two Boys," Don and Mart, who never fail to please their thousands of listeners with songs of mirth and melody.

Between 8 and 9 p. m., will be presented the weekly Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer program, "Bugs" Baer, the famous newspaper columnist, who has recently joined the ranks of the famous in the land of "Talkies," will present some of his inimitable humor over KJH. Baer comes as a stellar attraction in a big program featuring Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars and artists.

Dr. William Axt, famous composer and director, who for years was conductor of the concert orchestra in the Capitol theater, New York, will be guest conductor of the Don Lee Symphony orchestra, which will play some of Dr. Axt's compositions.

Lecta Lane and Hazel Cramer, novelty singers, also are scheduled on this program, together with one of the cleverest singing and instrumental combinations in the sound picture field today, the "Johnson Trio."

Members Of Club Ether Will Tell About 'Shanghai'

What could be worse than "shanghaiing" directly to Shanghai, China? Members of the Club Ether, who wandered on to an iceberg that suddenly went adrift and landed them in Siberia, awake to the realization that they have been "shanghaiing" and are now in Shanghai, China.

These terrifying experiences befell the radio skit from the prolific pen of Harold Johnson, known as "Club Ether" which will be broadcast from the Seattle studios of the American Broadcasting company, and over KMTZ at 10:30 p. m., Pacific standard time tonight.

Barney and George are the two principal figures in the mythical night club that has suddenly gone berserk. George, the colored head waiter in Barney's club, is caught "peeking" at Peking as they near the China coast and is swished into the hands of two rival Chinese armies who have no sense of humor. After George escapes death, miraculously, of course, he carries out an incessant desire to wash his hands of Siberia, which country has disgusted him greatly, by taking a swim in the Yellow river. The river CHANGES COLOR.

TWO JAILED ON RUM COUNTS AS CRASH RESULT

Only minor injuries resulted from three accidents which occurred yesterday, according to reports made to police authorities. Two men were arrested, however, and one was booked on a charge of violating section 112 of the California motor vehicle act, which makes it unlawful for a person to operate a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics.

The men booked in the jail were arrested by John Stanton, chief of police in Tustin, and Special Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Fuller, of the fruit patrol, shortly after a report had been received by the sheriff's office, from Irvine station, at 10:20 last night, that there had been an auto wreck on the highway near Irvine and that an intoxicated man was heading toward Santa Ana driving a light coupe with a flat tire. No one was hurt in the accident, according to the report.

John A. Cotter, 44, hostler, of 2626 North Broadway, Los Angeles, was booked on the charge of driving while intoxicated, and his companion, M. S. Peebles, 41, a towerman, of 4837 Westhaver street, Los Angeles, was charged with intoxication.

The mother of Miss L. G. Scott, 706 West Sixth street, received minor injuries, yesterday, when the car driven by Miss Scott was involved in a collision with a car operated by R. A. Emlison, at the corner of Ross street and Washington avenue.

Cars operated by Ed Yocum, 514 East Second street, and Mike Gulien, of El Modena, came together at the intersection of Fruit and Garfield streets at 7:50 last night, according to a report filed by Officer H. Fink. No one was hurt.

Leonard Forcey Will Represent Investment Firm

Announcement was made today of the selection of Leonard M. Forcey, formerly with the First National bank, as Orange county representative of E. H. Rollins and company, dealers in investment bonds.

Forcey, who had been connected with the banking institution for about 15 years and who for the last 10 years had been in charge of the collection department, has resigned his position in order to take over his work with the E. H. Rollins company.

This concern, which has been active on the Pacific coast for the last 25 years, has offices in all principal cities of the United States, as well as in Europe and South America. In addition to its investment bond business the concern also engages in underwriting, according to Forcey, who resides here at 213 South Sycamore street.

PROGRAM OMITTED

BUENA PARK, Aug. 1.—Twenty members and four visitors representing Anaheim, Arcadia and Compton clubs, were in attendance at the meeting of Buena Park Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. No program had been arranged as the club adjourned early so that the members could attend the garden party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman in Fullerton.

B. A. HERSHEY MADE POLICE SERGEANT

Promotion of one officer and addition of one man to the Santa Ana police force became effective this morning.

B. A. Hershey, motorcycle officer, becomes head of the motor squad with the rank of sergeant, under an appointment made by Chief L. C. Rogers, and William F. Nielsen, 916 East Pine street, is the new officer. Nielsen, formerly with the Orange County Garage company, is attached to the motor squad, which now consists of three men.

Hershey, one of the most efficient men on the force, has been an officer since May 6, 1926.

Man, Two Women Are Jailed Here On Booze Counts

Too much liquor resulted in the arrest of two women and one man at Third and Main streets at 3:30 this morning by Officer L. H. Nicholson.

When taken into custody, the trio attempted to destroy part of the liquor, one large bottle being thrown to the running board of another car and a second bottle falling from the car as the driver got out, the officer reported.

Those arrested, Tuck Ballard, 34, oil worker, of Bellflower; his wife, Pauline Ballard, 26, and Loretta Huddleston, 25, housewife, of 439 East Platt street, Long Beach, were booked in the county jail on charges of intoxication.

Police News

Santa Ana police were warned at 3 o'clock this morning to be on the lookout for an intoxicated man and two Mexican women headed toward Santa Ana from the north, but the trio failed to appear in the city.

Owners of two bicycles, stolen recently, asked the assistance of Santa Ana police in recovering them, according to reports on file at police headquarters today. Kenneth Patton, of Tustin, reported this morning that his wheel was stolen from near the Tustin high school plunge at about 8:30 last night, while Charles Hilligass, of 512 West Walnut street, reported last night that a bicycle was stolen from the garage at that address some time between Monday night and Wednesday morning.

A belated celebration of the Fourth of July was halted by police last night after a complaint had been made that boys were shooting firecrackers on South Main street. Officer H. Fink answered the call, apprehended the boy and instructed him that it was closed season on celebrations of that nature.

A group of boys, throwing rocks at the rear of an East Pine street address, yesterday afternoon, broke a windshield on a truck. Complaint made to police headquarters resulted in an investigation by Officer H. Fink. Parents of the boys promised to pay for the damage done and to stop such actions on the part of the lads in the future.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter returned from Santa Barbara with a prisoner early this morning. The man in custody, Harry B. Reid, Jr., 32, was booked on a charge of giving a bank check with intent to defraud. Reid lives in Santa Barbara.

ENDURANCE PLANE

Wreckage of the "Greater Des Moines" endurance plane, in which Pilot Arnold Ross, inset, was killed when it crashed to earth at Des Moines, Ia., is pictured here. Arnold was standing in an open cockpit ready to make a refueling contact when the plane dove to destruction. Another pilot escaped by use of a parachute.

SANTA ANA BARBER 'KNEW HIM WHEN' FAMOUS FLYER WAS MERELY SPEED DEMON

"Certainly they could have stayed up for 500 hours."

That was the confident opinion expressed today about Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, endurance flight record holders, by Harry Olsen, barber in the Joe Steele shop on Sycamore street. And perhaps Olsen should know, for he watched "Red" Jackson grow up back in Faribault, Minn.

Olsen visited Jackson in Los Angeles, last September, when the young aviator was flying in the National Air races there. Jackson was in the air race from New York to Los Angeles, but his plane was forced down by motor trouble.

Back in Faribault, Olsen turned down a chance to fly with the red headed record holder, he recalled today. Jackson was just beginning to fly then and Olsen, who is a tennis fan, said he had chosen to play his favorite game instead of taking to the air.

"Jackson always seemed to lead a charmed life," Olsen remarked. "He piled up in two separate cars but he wasn't hurt. He always was crazy for speed. As soon as he got a car he would take off the top and windshield and away he would go."

REPORTS GIVEN AT FIREMEN'S SESSION

Reports of chairmen in charge of various activities for the California Firemen's association convention in Fullerton next week were given at a meeting of the Orange County Firemen's association at the Legion clubhouse in Garden Grove last night.

Chief E. J. Tobias of the Garden Grove department, gave details of the hospital fire in Cleveland last month.

INQUEST TODAY IN MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF KIRK

Following the coroner's inquest, to be held in Dixon's Funeral parlors, Huntington Beach, at 3 o'clock this afternoon, funeral services will be conducted for Roy Kirk, whose body was found in his car along the highway near Huntington Beach, Sunday. The body will be returned to Kirk's former home in Alabama.

The inquest, to be conducted by Coroner Charles Brown, is expected to reveal information that will result either in filing formal charges against Allen Slater and Albert Nava, both of Long Beach, who are being held for investigation by Sheriff Sam Jernigan in connection with the death of Kirk, a Huntington Beach bookkeeper, or their release.

Sheriff Jernigan, District Attorney Z. B. West and Deputy District Attorney Sam Collins returned last night from Santa Barbara, where they conducted an investigation of one angle in the case. They interviewed Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rowe, who, while driving near Huntington Beach, Sunday, saw a fight along the road in which three men were involved.

The Rowes declared that two cars were standing at the side of the road and three men were outside the cars fighting. One of the men struck a blow that seemed to lift his opponent several feet off the ground and felled him in the road. By the time they could stop and get back to the scene of the fight two of the men had disappeared, they said, and they drove on.

A Sawtelle man who witnessed the fight is to be a witness at the inquest.

ABYSSINIAN PRINCE WILL LECTURE HERE

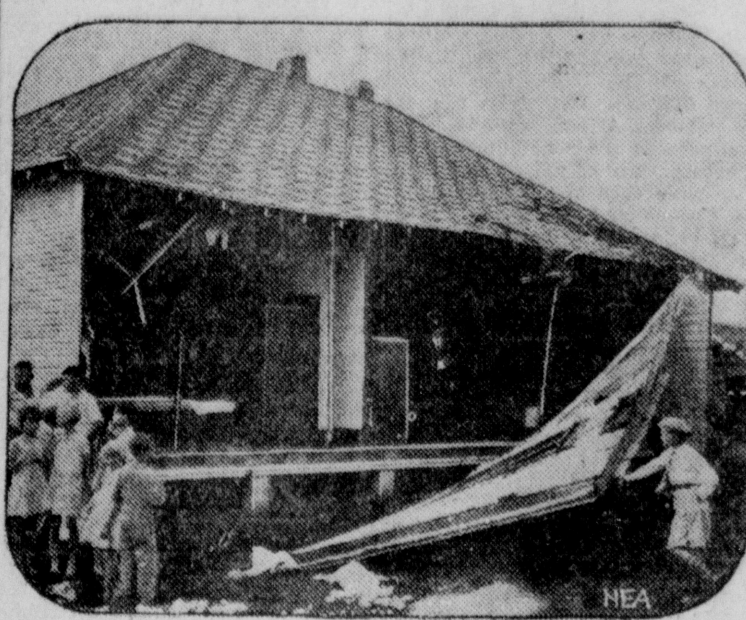

Prince J. E. Blayechettal of Abyssinia, East Africa, will be a speaker in Santa Ana at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. Coming here under the auspices of the Second Baptist church (colored), the prince, who has just returned to California after an absence of three and a half years, is qualified to bring an enlightening message on the African situation.

At the close of the lecture, he will be accompanied by his wife in singing various typical songs in the African dialect.

The prince is recommended highly by some of the most distinguished leaders of Christian work in America and Europe, according

$1346 IN FINES LEVIED IN JULY IN CITY COURT

Five traffic cases and a liquor case were handled by Judge John F. Talbot in city court, yesterday, and an order was issued for the destruction of 30 quarts of beer seized Monday in a search made on a Richard Roe warrant.

The case of Clarence Brady, charged with intoxication, was continued until August 30 and the defendant released on his own recognizance.

The traffic counts resulted in $28 in fines being levied. Thomas Pickett was assessed $20 for speeding; Walter Flockton and L. M. Forcey paid $2 each for overtime parking, and C. R. Kendall and Don Moyle were assessed like amounts each for leaving cars parked on the streets between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m.

Total fines levied during July in city court amounted to $1346.50. It was announced today by Edith Gallup, clerk of the court. Fines for June totaled $1260.30.

To the Rev. D. L. McGriff, pastor of the Santa Ana church. Dr. Merle N. Smith, of Pasadena; Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, Wn., and officials of the board of foreign missions of the Methodist church, New York City, are among those referred to by the Rev. Mr. McGriff.

ELKS TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC ON AUGUST 6

The month of August began today with the Santa Ana B. P. O. Elks No. 794, looking forward and making plans for their annual picnic, on August 6, which will be held in Irvine park. All members of the Elks order in this city were informed today of the coming event.

Elks and their families will gather at 4:30 p. m., in the park. In addition to the entertainment, which will be of stellar quality, according to the committee, and the dancing, which will be of the same quality, there is to be another potent attraction at the affair, those in charge of arrangements pointed out. This will be in the form of a famous Chef Duffy feed.

Among those in charge of the affair are Elmer Schanley, Fred Newcomb, Arnold Peck and E. R. Majors, secretary.

Talkies Prove TEMPLETON Best!

COLUMBIA PICTURES CO.

July 19th 1929

Mr. Herbert H. Horn
1809 So. Hill St.
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mr. Horn:

The test I made with a Temple 8-50 Highboy at the Columbia Pictures Corporation Studios, during the filming of Columbia's all talking picture "HURRICANE" was a distinct revelation to me in the total quality and the perfect reproduction of the voices and sounds.

The ordinary microphone hook-up was used connected to the Temple Highboy and the result was startling. A good deal of the quality of the tone is due no doubt to the 14 inch dynamic speaker yet, use to the Highboy.

I have made several such tests with radio sets on the reproducing stage at our studio but none compared in any way in total quality and clarity to your 8-50 Highboy. It was as perfect as any mechanical apparatus could possibly be. My boys who listened in were amazed and as they are all sound engineers, your radio eluded a rather severe test. It was a splendid experiment and the result speaks volumes for the total quality and clarity of your radio set.

John P. Livadary
Chief Sound Engineer
COLUMBIA PICTURES CORPORATION.

... Again TEMPLETONE and the big 14-inch dynamic speaker win. ... TEMPLETONE is the smoothest and purest tone in radio ... it is an exclusive tone ... only Temple has it.

This fact attested by Mr. John P. Livadary, Chief Sound Engineer at Columbia Pictures Corporation, where sound reproduction must be as natural as possible, proves more than ever that TEMPLETONE is right.

Mrs. James E. Prentice, of Orange, was hostess to a group of Santa Ana friends at one of the most charmingly appointed bridge luncheons of this month Tuesday afternoon at her home on East Walnut avenue.

Numerous baskets of rose dahlias were used by Mrs. Prentice, in decorating the house, and a bowl of similar blossoms centered the luncheon table. Combination place cards and tallies of summer tulips furthered the flower motif.

At the close of the pleasant afternoon of bridge, an adding of tallies showed Mrs. O. K. Carr to be holder of high score and she received an artistically hand decorated check for $10.00. Mrs. John Gould, who placed second, was awarded a green pottery vase in pottery shape. A jar of delicious jam and a kitchen memorandum had consoled Mrs. Roy Ivins.

Guests who attended the delightful bridge luncheon were Mrs. Fred Cole, Mrs. Paul Carnahan, Mrs. Roy Ivins, Mrs. O. K. Carr, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Cornelius Neuchangler and Miss Geraldine Cole of Santa Ana and Mrs. John Gould of Tustin.

Bridge Tea and Shower
Delightful Affair
Of Yesterday

Expressing the friendliness and charm for which Miss Helen Young and Mrs. Ralph Livenspire are noted throughout the city was the delightfully appointed bridge tea given by them yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Young's mother, Mrs. Frank Madden, of 422 West Washington avenue. The affair was given in honor of Miss Helen Meneses, pretty daughter of Mrs. Stella Meneses of this city, who is to marry Clarence McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McFadden, of Greenville, in the near future.

Delicate tints of yellow and lavender were used in the many dahlias, cosmos and asters that were arranged in artistic bouquets about the home, making a lovely background for the pretty summer frocks of the guests.

Places were found at the smartly appointed card tables through the use of dainty little bridge tallies and when scores were added at the end of the happy afternoon, Mrs. Maurine Mathes, who was high, and Mrs. John Meneghe of Fullerton, second, were awarded attractive gifts.

As tables were being prepared for the dainty refreshment course by the hostesses and Mrs. Madden, Miss Meneses was presented with a number of packages, all containing linen for the new home that she will establish soon.

Valuable Hints For Picnic Are Discussed

BY SISTER MARY (NEA Service Writer)

With the picnic season upon us, the question of "how much" becomes important. How many sandwiches, how big a cake, how much salad, how much lemonade and coffee and so on—these quantities must be adequate but not lavish, for left-over picnic food often means just so much waste.

Outdoor appetites are usually above normal, and for service "a la buffet" larger quantities may be needed. But if the cook calculates on the basis of the needs of her own family, she can arrive at a fair conclusion.

The following calculations are estimated for the average occasion but may help in gauging the quantities needed for individual needs:

One large cake ten inches in diameter will serve 16 persons.

One loaf sandwich bread will make 24 sandwiches which have been cut in half.

Two-thirds cup creamed butter will spread both sides of 24 sandwiches.

One quart of salad will serve 10 persons.

One four-pound chicken yields about 3 cups of diced meat.

One 2½ pound lobster will yield when boiled enough meat for one quart of salad in combination with other material.

One-half pound of coffee and four quarts of boiling water will make enough of the beverage to serve 15 people.

One and one-half dozen lemons will make lemonade to serve 20 to 25 persons, depending largely on the size and juiciness of the fruit.

One quart of a frozen mixture will serve 6 to 8 persons. When ice cream means the main part of the refreshments a larger serving is needed.

One pound of salted nuts will serve 25 persons.

One pound of cold-boiled ham will serve 3 or 4 persons and one pound of meat loaf will provide for about the same number.

These suggestions are made with a balanced picnic meal in mind. If baked beans, potato salad, cold boiled ham, meat loaf, meat, sandwiches, cheese sandwiches, pie, cake and cookies are all in evidence with lemonade, ice cream and watermelon for the "grand finale," the quantities needed of each viand should be very small indeed.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Aug. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Mrs. Melville, of Tustin, and Mrs. Ida King, of Santa Ana, visited Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Will Summers.

Vitamin D Is Captured In Sunlight

When cod-liver oil is prescribed for grown-up or child it is hard to say who suffers the most in the operation—the giver or the receiver!

Cod liver oil, you know, is, next to SUNLIGHT, our most efficient source of Vitamin D, the element which combats bone malformation in the little ones and creates a health reserve in adults.

Now comes Dr. Harry Steenbock, professor of agricultural chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, with his recent findings in irradiation. He has captured this Vitamin D element IN SUNLIGHT and has treated cereals with it so that the one who eats the cereal gets a dose of Vitamin D as well. He promises soon to have available an irradiated oil which will have thousands of times the effectiveness of cod liver oil.

Another two decades should see "bow" legs and pigeon breasts as rare as the mythical dodo bird!

It gives me great pleasure to add my compliments to the host already descended on Dr. Steenbock's head: Dr. Steenbock could have lined his pockets with gold through his discovery and application of irradiation to cereals, and the new oil, but he has chosen to patent his process and give it gratis to the world.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Quick Coffee Cakes
1½ cups flour
4-5 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk (sweet)
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons melted shortening

For Top of Cake:
½ cup chopped walnuts
6 tablespoons brown sugar
1 scant teaspoon cinnamon

For the cook who has a temperamental distaste to getting her hands messed up mixing biscuits, this recipe is especially directed. This quick coffee cake will be welcomed with shouts of joy for breakfast, to say nothing of the appreciative grins that will greet it at luncheon or dinner.

Mix and sift together all dry ingredients, two or three times. Beat the egg light, mix with the milk and then with the dry ingredients. Add melted shortening last of all. Beat to velvety smoothness and pour the batter into a buttered pan, one about 8 by 8 inches large.

Roll the sugar to break up lumps, sprinkle evenly over the top of batter, over this sprinkle the cinnamon, and top off with the chopped nuts. Bake in a medium hot oven for about 25 minutes. When done you will find that the sugar has seeped down through the cake and the cake is much like a cinnamon bun.

Some of 2060 calories make the total in this coffee cake; there should be enough for six people of normal appetite, but normally and coffee cake just don't go together! If you are counting the calories don't forget to count up the butter eaten with each portion.

Italian Sweets, in the current leaflet, afford the woman who is looking for delicious desserts something new and delightful to make and serve. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy, free this week only.

Clams are now in season, so is green corn. Tomorrow's recipe will combine the both in Corn and Clam Chowder.

DENNY COMEDY AT BROADWAY FRIDAY

Following the intense mystery picture "Behind That Curtain" which closes in the Fox Broadway tonight, will be a film of a directly opposite character. On Friday, Saturday and Sunday Reginald Denny will be seen in the hilarious comedy, "His Lucky Day." Denny has the role of a young real estate dealer who tries to sell two mansions to his sweetheart's father. The father rents one of the houses and the other house is rented by a band of crooks. The comedy situations which arise from this circumstance make the film one of the funniest produced in some time, it is said.

BABE RUTH SMASHES FUNGO BAT RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Babe Ruth is the new long distance fungo hitter. The home run king broke the former record made by big Ed Walsh, one-time White Sox pitcher, in 1912, by driving a ball a distance of 447 feet with a fungo before yesterday's game against the White Sox. Walsh's record was 412 feet.

DANE-ARTHUR FILM SHOWS AT WALKER

Borrowing a gas company's boiler room and an entire pier at San Pedro as locations for the filming of "China Bound," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy which will be shown at the Fox Walker today and tomorrow was one of the problems that confronted Charles F. (Chuck) Reisner, director.

The boiler room was used in one of the early scenes of the picture to show Karl Dane at work as a stoker. The San Pedro pier was borrowed for two days and after it had been dressed up by the "prop" department, looked like a pier at a Chinese port. Polly Moran, famous screen funster, appears with the noted comedy team in this production. The leading feminine role is taken by Josephine Dunn.

STATION PAINTED

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 1.—The Richfield Oil company is giving the San Clemente service station and garage a coat of new white paint with blue trimmings. It is the only Richfield station so painted in the state due to the architectural standards of the Spanish village, which allows nothing but white for the walls of buildings. The station is owned by O. R. Robertson.

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE TIE PIE PIN.

It's probably more difficult on a real course.
2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

HOUR TO TIME—Start this hole on the HOUR and if you wind up on TIME you'll be playing a perfect game. Par is eight.

TIERNAN TEAM COPS LEAD IN LEAGUE RACE

didn't seem as many as there really was to the fan in the grandstand, who saw the leaders in a hole in almost every inning.

Kinslows started the game off in good fashion, pushing a run over in the second, but the Tiernans retaliated in their part of the second with three tallies, and were never headed from that time. They scored three more in the sixth and ended up by scoring in the seventh with four more. The machinists scored one in the third, and two in the eighth.

Tiernans won last night places them in first place, with everything pointing towards them being city champions without having to participate in a series of playoff games at the end of the season. The Typewriter boys have won two games and lost none and Kinslows have won two games and lost one, in the second half. The Typewriters have a postponed game to play with the Santa Ana Ice company and a win by the ice company is the only chance the machinists have to remain in the money.

The Santa Ana Ice company team meets the Hawley Sporting Goods team at the bowl tonight. The score:

WRIGLEY WOULD BAN INDIANS, BEAVERS FROM COAST LEAGUE; SUGGEST NORTHWEST TIEUP

PORTLAND, Aug. 1.—Restoration of organized baseball in the northwest similar to the old Northwest league, and the proposal of William Wrigley to shut the door of the Coast league on Portland and Seattle, has set northwest baseball circles afire.

Organization of a Class C league, for the purpose of developing young players for the Pacific Coast league teams, has met the approval of Thomas L. Turner, president of the Portland club; William H. Klepper, Seattle president, and J. C. Ewing, Oakland baseball magnate.

Turner and Klepper are particularly interested in the organization of a Class C Northwest league for more than one purpose, yet they do not want to lose their Coast league franchises.

Baseball in the northwest during the last few years, from 1925 when Seattle won the Coast league pennant under Wade Kilgiff, has been on the decline. The two club prexies believe that organization of a new Northwest league will bring back the lost interest in the national pastime in this section.

This, perhaps, is the chief reason for their proposal to embrace Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Bellingham, Tacoma, Victoria, Aberdeen or Yuma, as a new league, to be known as Ewing suggested, as farm for young Coast league players.

The old Northwest league failed during the war. It consisted of the Portland Colts, Spokane Indians, Tacoma Tigers, Aberdeen Black Cats and teams from Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria.

Spokane still is a good baseball town. Coast league teams have played exhibition games there and have profited by the trip. It has created more enthusiasm toward the organization of the new league. The matter rests with the Coast league officials, however. Each Coast league team would, in all probability, support one of the entries in the new league, with Portland and Seattle sponsoring teams in their own cities.

The Chicago chewing gum magnate, owner of the Chicago Cubs, Los Angeles Angels, Catalina Island and what not, has announced his idea of the Coast league with Portland and Seattle cut out of it, making a California circuit. This has fired the fans of Seattle and Portland.

Both cities support the teams when they are winning. But of late years the teams haven't been of the highest class, and fans have neglected to visit the ball orchards. During the war Seattle and Portland were dropped from the Coast league—but then only as an emergency measure, as they were welcomed back after the armistice.

Bill Lane, owner of the Hollywood Stars, was disgusted when he was informed of the movement on foot to oust Portland and Seattle. "Where'd they get that kind of stuff?" Lane snarled. By his statement it was indicated that Lane would vote against the proposition, since all league owners are to be consulted before such action can be taken.

Harry Williams, president of the league, was perhaps the most surprised of the league magnates, when he was informed of Wrigley's pet idea. "I thought we were through with all those arguments," he is quoted to have said. He intimated that a later opening in Portland and Seattle would help to create more interest in the game up here. This year adverse weather conditions hampered both teams from getting off on a good start.

GENERAL STRIKE IN ARGENTINA IS ENDED

ROSARIO, ARGENTINA, Aug. 1.—(UP)—The general strike which has been in effect here since last Friday, centering about the dispute between port workers and their employers, was at an end today.

The settlement nullified plans for the calling of a general sympathy strike in Buenos Aires which was to have gone into effect today unless the Rosario difficulties were ironed out.

The agreement reached between the strikers and the employers contemplates that there shall be no change either in wages or hours; that free labor shall be permitted to work on the same terms with union men; and that no reprisals are to be attempted by either side. Work will be resumed Friday. The street car employees alone remain on strike.

EVENING SALUTATION

"Prosperity is necessary for a country and so is patriotism, but neither is sufficient to make a country really great unless it also has a heart and soul."
—Lady Astor.

AMBASSADOR JOHN W. GARRETT

In appointing John W. Garrett Ambassador to Italy, President Hoover is appointing a professional diplomat, thus emphasizing a growing practice in this country only in the last few years. The diplomatic science is a profession in European countries requiring extensive scholastic training and experience. The United States for many years regarded its foreign service as more or less of an instrument of spoils, for the reward of yeoman political service, in many cases where it was more convenient to have the zealous political henchman abroad than at home among the counsellors.

The failure of the whole policy was clearly revealed at the Versailles Conference when the astute and wily foreign diplomats were too much for our president. At that time he was just able to hold on to the one thing most precious to him, his League of Nations plan, sacrificing much else for which he had stood in the give and take of the discussion table.

From 1901 to 1903 Mr. Garrett was Secretary of the American Legation at the Hague. This service marked his start in foreign diplomatic service, a young man of 29 who had some banking experience in a firm founded by his grandfather in Baltimore. Subsequently he was two years in the Netherlands and three years in Berlin. Between 1908 and 1911 he was first secretary to the American Embassy at Rome. He was four years in South America and subsequently a special agent of the Department of State to assist the American ambassador at Paris during the critical years between August 6, 1914 and August 23, 1917. Since that time he has added to his record of varied and climatic diplomatic service. In 1921 he was Secretary General of the Conference on the limitation of Armaments at Washington.

Reviewing Mr. Garrett's record and noting the fact that his services have always been of increasing importance, one is led to the conclusion that President Hoover in appointing such a man to Rome indicates that he regards it as a most important and critical point in international affairs.

Men spend about $1,000,000,000 a year in the United States in efforts to make themselves beautiful. Yet they say the ladies are wasteful.

THE ART OF LIVING

There is something out of plumb about a man who can afford to provide a comfortable home and surroundings for his family but does not.

Several things may be the matter with him. He may be the victim of fear, a horrible, morale-destroying fear, that some day he may be in want. The chances are that he may never be in want, in which case he will all his life deprive himself and his loved ones of joy and happiness. The man is a pitiable object.

Again he may be selfish. No comment necessary. He just is.

He may be ignorant of the art of living, of the pleasure and subtle advantages of beauty and comforts which make each day a joy rather than an endurance test. He may be so limited that he cannot comprehend that surroundings that are beautiful and pleasing change the whole aspect of life to the individual, whereas a stoical attitude of puttings up with things, not because he has to, but because he finds it physically possible to do so, does not get him anywhere in the end. There are many things which everyone has to put up with in life which are unpleasant without making life still more difficult by enduring unpleasant things, worn out tools, uncomfortable surroundings.

In other words, while for many years it has been highly creditable to be a Spartan, Spartanism frequently is a cloak for disagreeable, miserly qualities which are not to be commended. There is a happy, honorable medium between the Spartan and Epicurean philosophy.

A new species of mosquito has been discovered by a scientist. Tough luck.

UNHAPPY STATISTICS

A short time ago we commented on suicide figures made public by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman of the Prudential Insurance Company. His figures were for 1928 and revealed that the general suicide rate for American cities was 17.5 per 100,000, and that in a list of ninety-six cities having the highest suicide rate, eight of the ten highest of the ninety-six were in the west: San Diego, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, and Denver.

Now comes statement from Dr. Walter M. Dickie, state director of public health that California's suicide rate is growing. The rate last year was 30.7 per 100,000 of population, as compared to 29.9 in 1927 and 26.3 in 1924.

Dr. Dickie, attributes the high rate to three factors: migration of invalids to California, casual laborers, and mental disturbances caused by the strain of modern living. In all of these factors California's very advantages react to give her a bad record in the matter of suicides. Our glorious climate affords a mecca for invalids and also permits much faster, gayer living than is possible the year around elsewhere. The winter months in the middle west are periods of less activity than is forced upon us out here. In the matter of casual laborers whom Dr. Dickie believes contribute heavily to the unfavorable suicide rate, California's very attractiveness again places her at a disadvantage.

LOCATING A GENIUS

Forty-nine boys selected from various parts of the United States are undergoing an examination and mental contest to determine which one is most fitted to follow the career of Thomas A. Edison.

The scheme was originated by Edison himself, and yet he has doubts as to its success. In welcoming the candidates he said:

"It must be remembered that there is no suitable yardstick which can possibly determine the relative value of one human being as compared to another. Life and human relationships are too complex, too involved to permit such determination."

"The purpose of this scholarship contest is to stimulate the interest of the youth of America in mental development with practical emphasis on scientific matters and more generally in the high ideals that make for the highest type of American manhood."

The winner will be given every opportunity for education and intellectual development in institutions of his own choice.

This is and can in the nature of things be only an experiment. The chances of a measure of success, however, are very great. It is almost impossible that a young man selected by his own state in a competitive manner to compete with other young men similarly selected, and who is finally chosen by a competent board of judges, should fail to be worthy of the honor.

However, no means has ever been devised to successfully select from a given number of persons the one who will inevitably best meet the expectations of any man or group of men.

Edison's own history shows clearly that sometimes the selective process goes on without the interference of examining boards or even of a formal education. An inborn spark of genius aided, and sometimes, in spite of, a proper environment will ripen into great success and usefulness. The same spark with a better environment for its development may be smothered and overcome by other traits of character.

We shall never be able to select the best fitted for any particular career by a rule of thumb. The best guarantee we can have that the ability and genius of the youth of the land will develop the best they have is to equalize the opportunity for all and make these opportunities as large and all embracing as possible.

When we have done this, selective groups may aid, but genius and special aptitude will show itself and the nation and the world will reap the benefit.

Those Scientists Continue to Make Us Worry

San Bernardino Sun
Scientists are giving us a lot of mental unease. Not content with telling us that automobiles will atrophy our legs until we become all head and stomach, that we shall lose our eyesight by not using it enough for far vision, that we shall all become baldheaded from headcovering and brain activity, that there will be so many of us in a couple of centuries that only those can live who shove the others off the earth, and no end of other things not pleasant to contemplate, one of them now says that the white race is doomed to disappear before the advance of the various colored ones. We are becoming too intellectual and too non-physical to hold our own against the encroachments of the races that will soon be much better physically to "multiply and replenish the earth."

This has always been the case, he says, and always will be. Intellect, to be sure, develops science and culture and also improves the weapons of war to such an extent as to give the intellectual races a great advantage in war. That advantage cases when other races learn to use those weapons as well as the inventors and at the same time enjoy superiority in physical vigor and numbers. He points to the Japanese and Chinese as examples. They preserve their fecundity while at the same time learning the art of war and accumulating the wealth necessary to support it. Then there are the millions of Asia under Mohammedan rule and inspiration, who also maintain a high birth rate and at the same time are developing ability to handle modern scientific devices for war, as Turkey has amply shown.

Apparently the only escape from such destruction of the power of the white race, if not of the race itself, lies in the education of both races to such high spiritual standards as to eliminate war as a method of regulating human relations; and for that he has no hope at all. The people of the white race are unable to do that even among themselves. How could they hope to do so with other races?

A Quiet Fight

Oakland Tribune
Without making any noise, a good fight is going forward. Only those connected with the State Department of Agriculture, with the University Farm Department, or the Farm Bureau and other agricultural agencies, are aware of the program which California is carrying out to prevent the Mediterranean fly from entering the borders.

That program deserves the widest possible support, not only from state but nation, and the army of vigilant men who are now working, many of them extra hours each day, is deserving of credit and commendation.

As to the situation, here is the latest word from G. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture: "The Mediterranean fruit fly will never be allowed to get a start in California if we can prevent it and if the fly were to be found anywhere in this state I believe it could be surrounded in twenty-four hours through the mobilization of state and county forces which are already equipped with the entomological and horticultural knowledge necessary to handle the eradication campaign. Between four and five hundred men are constantly in the field under the supervision of the State Department and the County Horticultural Commissioners inspecting orchards as well as fruits and vegetables."

"We have had experience with other pests and when I say the procedure which would be applied against the Mediterranean fruit fly would be drastic, immediate and relentless, I speak from experience."

Fine Sportsmanship

Christian Science Monitor
Nothing more need be said about the true sportsmanship of the tennis court when it is known that the other day at Wimbledon one of the American players, at a critical point in the championship game, informed the umpire that his racket, entirely unnoticed by the latter, had grazed the band of the net. Of particular significance is the fact that the point, which thus went to the French pair, would have brought the Americans within a stroke of the set. This incident, paralleling closely one which happened fifteen years ago, shows clearly that the age of chivalry is not past.

Yes and No!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE DAWN OF HOPE
Russia is to introduce spelling reform
No wonder the Russians, when under the Czar,
Were woefully weak and oppressed;
No wonder they've always been far under par
And never at peace or at rest.
In learning to spell all the words in their tongue
And the names of the cities so widely far flung
The poor little children, whom teachers caught young,
Lost all of their pep and their zest.

Just look at the names on the map of the place—
Many seventeen syllables long,
Invented by many a different race
Who mostly spelled everything wrong.
What time could a youngster to learning devote
When he had to make curious sounds in his throat
In spelling the words in the language by rote—
A task that would daunt the most strong.

The Russian Republic has not done so well
At the date of composing this rhyme,
For even the peasants are learning to spell
Which consumes nearly all of their time.
Neglecting their labors, their spellers they thumb
And mumble jawbreakers until they grow dumb.
Small wonder that many have lately become Addicted to crude forms of crime.

But with spelling reform dawns the bright sun of hope,
No longer the people need rage
As they sit in their hovels and drowsily grope
Over words which consume half a page.
By scrapping the consonants, junking the "y's"
And omitting the words which are merely hoarse cries
The great Russian nation may presently rise
As the bright shining star of the age.

EXCELLENT EXAMPLE
Now if the grocer and the butcher would just follow in the wake of the government and cut down the size of their bills—

"Solid Ground for Optimism"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

"Never before have advocates of world peace assembled with such solid ground for optimism." This is the judgment of President Garfield, expressed at the opening, on August 1, of the ninth international Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Massachusetts.

The present year, says Dr. Garfield, has seen so many promising events—the return of the Labor Party to power in Great Britain, the inauguration of President Hoover, the settlement of the reparations problem, the Kellogg Peace Pact—that it seems that the time has come to step forward into a new era of world peace on the basis of mutual understanding and respect.

Only a few years ago such a conference would have dealt largely with secret treaties, limitation of armament, spheres of influence and all the small town politics which we used to call "Diplomacy." Poisoned gas would have been discussed; and there would have been an odor of poisoned gas in most of the conference rooms.

Significant of the new understanding of the causes of war is the fact that most of the subjects at the Institute of Politics this year are economic. For the first time one of the Round Tables and two of the General Conferences will deal with the effect of public fiscal policies on trade and employment. Definite programs are being worked out for the prevention of unemployment by means of prudent and well-timed government expenditures on public works.

This will be the first concerted attempt to get down to brass tacks in response to President Hoover's request for co-operation.

This is, indeed, "solid ground for optimism." There is no surer way to make the Kellogg Pact effective than for each nation to keep its workers employed and the demand for their products sustained in home markets.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

AN INDIAN ON CHRISTIANITY

E. Stanley Jones, in a recent interview with George W. Gray, tells of a conversation with Mahatma Gandhi which deserves to be pulled out, boxed in, and given the emphasis of standing by itself.

Dr. Jones was beginning to feel, as a missionary in India, that it was important to distinguish between the essentials and the non-essentials of Christianity, so that he would not be making the mistake of trying to foist upon a foreign people non-essential things that might prove less important than the things they might displace. He did not want to see Christianity merely imported mechanically into India. He wanted to see Christianity naturalized in India. He wanted the essential of Christianity to find its own forms of Indian expressions. He asked Mahatma Gandhi what the Christian missionaries should do to naturalize Christianity in India. Gandhi replied with four suggestions, as follows:

First, that Christians begin to live more like Christ.
Second, that Christians practice their religion without adulterating it or toning it down.
Third, that Christians make love rather than economic military power their working force.
Fourth, that Christians study the non-Christian faiths and people more sympathetically in order to find good in them and in order to have a more sympathetic approach to them.

From this conversation and from his years of experience as a missionary in the East, Dr. Jones arrives at the conclusion that the Eastern mind sees Western Christianity afflicted with four great immoralities, as follows:

First, the immorality of religious snobbery, the snobbery of Western Christianity as a whole toward all the ancient faiths of the East, and the snobbery that now and then the many denominations of Western Christianity display toward each other.

Second, the immorality of unreality, of a wide gulf between the professions and the practices of Western nations that claim to be Christian.

Third, the immorality of race prejudice.

Fourth, the immorality of economic exploitation.

These last two indictments vividly illustrate the fact that a religion which sets out to transplant itself in another land must carry with it as baggage the reputation of the race and civilization in which it is dominant.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

BENEFICENT FEARS

Fear has a very definite place in child training. We need it but we must keep it where it belongs. That is not easy because it is scarcely possible to instill, or arouse an emotion in isolation. That is, we cannot teach a child to fear fire without having him associate fire with ideas of dread. Yet we must teach a child to avoid fire lest he endanger himself and others.

And we must teach him caution of the water, care in the use of sharp tools, fear of wrong conduct. Fear is a safeguard but it must be used in that spirit and no other, for it is a very dangerous force.

It must not be used to establish a relationship between parents and children, teachers and children, doctors and nurses and children. If fear lies between them in this relationship it is almost impossible to work successfully with the children.

Parents and other directors of childhood sometimes feel that it is necessary to teach children to fear them in order to have the children respect them. What they mean by that is that the children jump to obey their slightest word. Now a child may obey immediately and habitually and have not the slightest respect for the director because his fear has killed respect. No child respects a bully. All children respect intelligence and those who put fear in the stead of love when teaching children are not intelligent in the highest sense of that word, the sense that children understand.

Children learn to obey, to follow leadership, through experience. When they learn that following a leader's word brings safety and happiness and success, as they certainly will discover if the leadership is wise, they gladly follow. But if they find that the leadership is whimsical, selfish, unthinking, they disregard it as far as they can with safety to themselves and break off all relationship as soon as may be.

The Bible says the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. Now instead of fear as usually understood, read understanding, of love. That is the true meaning of that term. Whatever fear you set in the spirit of love and understanding, will be beneficent fear and a safeguard for the child, physically and spiritually. But the fear you set for your selfish end, to gratify your mood, or to have yourself, is very likely to prove a malignant fear.

Test your teaching. Do I want this done for the child's well being or for mine? For his safety or my comfort? For his growth or my repose? Then go ahead.
